Hospital Premium Dodgers Will Again Face Prosecution

Socred Government Reverses Policies

BY T. A. MYERS
Colonist Staff Reporter

B.C.'s hospital insurance scheme is compulsory again, under a new policy announced Tuesday by Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin.

All British Columbians who can afford to pay their hospital insurance premiums will be compelled to do so, by prosecution if necessary.

Those who haven't the money will be exempt from premium payment, but will be responsible for their own hospital bills.

The new policy represents an about-face for the government, which campaigned vigorously on a voluntary-insurance plank last year. Under Social Credit, BCHIS has been compulsory for those on payrolls, voluntary for all others.

Mr. Martin described the new policy as the government's fifth step in its reorganization of BCHIS. The last major step was taken last June when Mr. Martin suspended all premium arrears. This step brought 10,000 delinquents back into BCHIS.

"It is now possible and equitable to require that all persons who are able pay their premiums," Mr. Martin said. "This government will therefore ensure that premium payment by individuals and company participation on payroll deduction will be forthcoming in all instances."

This would mean prosecution of deliberate premium-dodgers—those who could afford to pay but wouldn't. There have been no prosecutions for two years.

INVESTIGATION SET

The next hospital premium is due December 31. Those who do not pay by then will be billed again in January. If they still do not pay, their financial circumstances will be investigated.

Mr. Martin, with the advice of BCHIS and welfare department field workers, will decide whether or not each individual can afford to pay his premium.

There will be not pat formula for making these decisions, he said. Each case will be judged on its own merits.

Those whom Mr. Martin considers able to pay will face prosecution. Fines for non-payment run from $5 to $25, plus the amount of current premiums. Prosecutions may start about February.

Those who are considered unable to pay because of economic circumstances will not be prosecuted.

STILL RESPONSIBLE

However, there will be no blanket insurance coverage for these low-income groups. Those who a. not already covered through some form of government assistance will still be legally responsible for any hospital bills they may incur.

If a person who has been excused payment of premium needs hospital care, he will get it—no indigent can be refused treatment under B.C. law. But once he is discharged, the hospital may try to collect from him for its services.

If the hospital decides the bill is uncollectable, it will be reimbursed at the end of the year by the Hospital Insurance Service.

Under this plan, said BCHIS Commissioner Lloyd Detwiller, low-income groups would be given insurance coverage "through the back door."

Mr. Martin and Mr. Detwiller both said it would be almost impossible to give direct BCHIS coverage to people unable to pay their premiums.

There will be no permanent exemptions. Those who are excused payment for the first half of 1954 will be billed again for the second half, along with everyone else. If their economic circumstances have improved in the meantime, they will be required to pay the second premium.

Companies as well as individuals will feel the effect of the government's stiffened policy. Mr. Martin said only a few companies have refused to co-operate with the government in deducting premium payments from their employees, but in future these companies will be forced to comply with the law.

Repairs Delay Sailing

Some minor last-minute repairs yesterday postponed scheduled sailing of racy schooner Black Dog and her four-man crew, but damage has been repaired and ship will leave before dawn today. Captain and owner of vessel, well-known along Victoria's waterfront is William Tellier, former lieutenant-commander in Royal Canadian Navy, shown at extreme left. His crew is, left to right, Dave Burt, first mate, from Alaska; John Rice, cook, from Portland, Oregon; and Jim Grainger, navigator, from Vancouver and Toronto.

West Coast Protests As Lifelines Slashed

A storm of protest has followed reduction of the boat service and cancellation of scheduled flights to West Coast ports. The West Coast CPR service has been reduced to three trips a month effective Monday. At the same time scheduled flights to the West Coast have been suspended after a wrangle between Coastal Air Services Ltd. and the Air Transport Board.

In Port Alberni John Squire, M.L.A. said, "Cutting of the Princess of Alberni schedule from weekly to three trips monthly emphasizes the fact that the West Coast is getting far too little attention from the department of transport."

He criticized the Air Transport Board for "juggling" a public hearing which was scheduled for November 23 but later indefinitely postponed. The hearing was to have been on the Pacific Western Air Lines application to operate a daily West Coast service.

Speaking also as acting president of Local 1-85 IWA, Mr. Squire declared that the daily air service could be invaluable in promoting Port Alberni as a hiring centre for West Coast logging and sawmill operations.

All Port Alberni organizations should support the Pacific Western Airlines' attempt to re-establish the schedule under a license from the department of transport, Mr. Squire said.

He expressed deep disappointment in the action of the CPR in reducing schedules, and said he would get in touch with T. S. Barnett, MP for Comox-Alberni, in Ottawa in an effort to improve the situation.

Russ Baker, president of Pacific Western Airlines, said in Vancouver yesterday that the Air Transport Board had used "police state" tactics in its investigation at Port Alberni of Coastal Air Services, a booking agency for his airline.

He charged that inspector Leslie Knight of the Air Transport Board had "walked off" with books of Coastal Air Services in Port Alberni and interviewed witnesses, clients of Coastal Air Services, under oath in the presence of a police escort.

An injunction was served on Inspector Knight late Monday in Nanaimo. It restrains him from further inquiry and submission of evidence already taken to the board in Ottawa.

"The injunction was too late if it was meant to prevent this investigation," Mr. Knight said.

He said he had obtained the books voluntarily and returned them that way, and that he had obtained all the information he sought and sent a report to Ottawa.

William Russell, president of Port Alberni and District Chamber of Commerce, added his voice to the protests and said he was "far from pleased at the announcement concerning the Princess of Alberni."

The Chamber recently went on record as supporting the Pacific Western Airlines application for a charter to points on the West Coast as far north as Chamiss Bay, about five air miles northeast of Kyuquot.

Mayor Ben Wright of Alberni was also among those who expressed dissatisfaction with the boat service now in effect.

The inadequacy of the new thrice-monthly CPR schedule highlights the urgency for access roads to the West Coast, according to Fred Hawes, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

Even if the service of the Princess of Alberni were more frequent, the ship is not large enough to do an adequate job, Mr. Hawes said.

About 100 cars in the Ucluelet and Tofino area are stranded there at present, since the Alberni does not carry cars. No vehicles can be taken into the area.

Kyuquot residents are reported to be seriously worried that the CPR will soon cut its service to Chamiss Bay entirely, the run terminating at Zeballos, 35 miles from Kyuquot.

The new reduction of boat service to the area means that Kyuquot residents writing to Vancouver, only 150 air miles away, will not receive answering mail for three weeks to a month.

Christmas mail for the Kyuquot area will have to be posted before December 11.

Comment Favorable To BCHIS Change

Victoria hospital administrators Tuesday welcomed the government's decision to revert to a compulsory system of hospital insurance.

They felt the revised policy would bring more people under hospital insurance coverage and cut down on the number of non-insured patients admitted to their hospitals.

"We'll be better off if it's compulsory," said Sister Mary Angelus, Sister Superior at St. Joseph's Hospital. She said the new policy would make little difference to the hospital with respect to collection of bills.

MASTERS HAPPY

"I'm happy with the change," said George Masters, administrator of Royal Jubilee Hospital. "It will cut down the number of non-insured patients."

Mr. Masters said about 10 per cent of the 10,000 patients admitted annually to Jubilee were not covered by BCHIS. Of these, he said, about half were able to pay their hospital bills. Of the others, he said, about half could not even pay their BCHIS premiums.

(Mr. Martin said Tuesday admittances of non-insured patients throughout the province had been cut to a new low of 5.83 per cent. The figure for the Victoria area was 4.27 per cent, he said. This included transients and other non-insurable classes, as well as deliberate premium-dodgers and those who simply could not afford to pay their premiums.)

LABOR PLEASED

The labor movement, which has frequently blasted the government for forcing employees to contribute to hospital insurance through payroll deductions while allowing others to escape payment, seemed to approve of the change.

New Color Scheme

First look at the new color scheme on B.C.'s 1954 car license plates went to Edith Kay, secretary at the Motor Vehicle bureau. The commercial plate has yellow numerals on a black background, and the '54 tab on the ordinary plate is also black and yellow. Private car plates—aluminum with black figures—remain unchanged.

Queen Visits Cruiser

ABOARD LINER GOTHIC (UP)—Queen Elizabeth sailed toward the Fiji Islands today after changing ships at sea in rough Pacific waters while sharks circled nearby.

The Queen transferred from the royal liner to the British cruiser Sheffield Monday to meet the sailors escorting her across the Pacific on her round-the-world tour.

She made the transfer by admiral's barge in a four-foot Pacific swell. Crewmen of the Gothic sighted the fins of two small sharks circling beneath a companionway lowered from the side of the liner as the Queen stood on it waiting to step into the barge.

On her fourth attempt the Queen crossed the three-foot gap. The Duke of Edinburgh held one of the Queen's hands and Vice-Adm. E. M. Abelsmith grasped the other.

Lumber Dispute Locked

PENTICTON (CP)—Negotiations for settlement of the southern Interior B.C. lumber dispute were deadlocked again Tuesday when meetings between union and employer representatives broke up here.

Spokesmen for the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association made what they termed a "final offer" of a three-year contract, three-cent-an-hour wage increase effective January 1 and provision for reopening the wage clause every Sept. 1.

The International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) is asking an 18-cents-an-hour wage increase over the present rate of $1.20½ cents an hour.

About 3,000 IWA unionists have been on strike since October.

Cheers Speed Journey West

Churchill Flies to Bermuda

LONDON (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill, with the cheers of leaders of all parties still ringing in his ears, set off across the Atlantic Tuesday night on his way to the Bermuda conference.

The prime minister and his 28-man diplomatic team took off in the stratocruiser Canopus, at 11.37 p.m. (3.37 p.m., PST), for Bermuda, where he will begin his meetings with President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel Friday.

An hour before, in the House of Commons, Conservative, Labor and Liberal MPs alike rose to their feet to cheer a "bon voyage" to their leader.

Puffing on a cigar, Churchill walked to his limousine amid cheering from a crowd waiting outside to wish him good luck.

The Canopus is due at Gander, Nfld., for refueling at 1.45 a.m., PST, today, and should reach Bermuda at 7.15 a.m.

Foreign Secretary Eden and Lord Cherwell, Churchill's atomic adviser, accompanied him on the trip.

At Bermuda a raging tropical storm which brought the heaviest rainfall in the island's history, struck Tuesday on the eve of the Big Three conference.

The weather is expected to clear today.

British tommy-gunners Tuesday night sealed off Bermuda's Mid-Ocean Club, the swank tourist hotel where the three leaders will conduct their talks.

A force of 240 infantrymen of the Royal Welch Fusiliers isolated the conference quarters from outsiders. Hundreds of Bermuda's militia were mobilized to man checkpoints blocking approaches to the hotel. Local constabulary, customs and security officers made an island-wide check for firearms.

This was part of an elaborate operation designed to insure that hoodlums, spies or unfriendly persons do not pierce the security screen around the three world leaders.

North's Horses Use Snowshoes

VANCOUVER (CP)—Some horses have been taught to use snowshoes on northern British Columbia winter trails and Morley Shier has produced snapshots of horses so equipped to convince doubters.

Mr. Shier said he first saw a horse on snowshoes in 1919 when he was hiking from Stewart, B.C., to Premier mine.

Later he saw several pack trains of horses with snowshoes and was given one of the shoes by J. Crawford, Stewart merchant.

Mr. Shier said at one time round boards, solid on the horses' feet, were used, but later these were changed to iron. Now horses' snowshoes are made of three-quarter inch iron pipe, 12 inches in diameter, with chains to the centre and clips for the toe and side. They work on the same principle as men's snowshoes.

At first a horse is troubled, but soon learns the trick of putting one shoe over the other in walking on snow. When a shoe gets loose, the horse will stop, look back, and wait for an adjustment.

$152,500 To Be Split By Community Chest

The Red Feather's 17 member agencies will receive a total of $152,500 in 1954, it was decided last night by the board of directors of the Greater Victoria Community Chest.

Payments for the year will be made on an 11-month basis.

Money will be distributed in such a way that each agency will take 12 per cent cut from the amount individually asked for the coming year.

Chest agencies will be better off in 1954 than they have been in 1953 when they received 33⅓ per cent less than what they asked over a period of only 10 months and had to make drastic cuts in essential services.

The Chest's current collection campaign ended Monday with $180,186 of its $210,600 objective. Collections represented 85 per cent of the objective and some 16.5 per cent more than the amount raised last year.

R. B. Mathews, campaign president, said expenses of the campaign totaled $6,282, or only 3.5 per cent of the total collected.

Some $27,800 must be deducted from total collections as follows before the distribution is made to member agencies: 10 per cent reserve for uncollectable pledges, $5,000; pledge payments due after November 30, $1,000; transfer to cover 1953 apparent deficit, $3,562; provision for 1954 campaign expen-

Guild Checking Drake-V.I. Link

VANCOUVER (CP)—Robert Parkinson seeks to find out if Sir Francis Drake was the first white navigator to sight Vancouver Island shores.

The Berkeley, Calif., historian and member of the Drake Navigators' Guild is making extensive research into the historic voyage of the Golden Hinde.

In British Columbia he studied ancient maps in Victoria archives and at Vancouver Museum.

Sir Francis remained for 36 days at Drake's Bay, and rammed the Golden Hinde on the beach there. The navigators' guild has gone over every inch of the bay shore seeking remains of the stone blockhouse that Drake built and other relics.

However, nothing has been found to equal in importance the original brass plate that Drake affixed to a tree to commemorate his visit. This plate was found 20 years ago and now is on display in Bancroft Library at Berkeley.

Many historians believe Drake's first landfall on the Pacific Coast was near Nootka Sound June 20, 1579. He did not land, but continued southward to Drake's Bay, north of San Francisco, where he named the land New Albion, and claimed it for Elizabeth I.

An account published by Hakluyt in 1589 describes the location of New Albion as being "on the back side of Canada," a description not relished by many Californians.

New U.S. Witness Declines To Reply

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A former government employee whose name has frequently cropped up among members of a Soviet spy ring in the capital, Tuesday refused to tell the House un-American activities committee whether he ever knew the late Harry Dexter White.

The witness was Donald H. Wheeler, 40, former Yale University instructor and ex-employee of the office of strategic services who was named on FBI director J. Edgar Hoover's list of former spies in the government.

Wheeler promptly ducked for cover behind the fifth amendment and monotonously repeated "I refuse to answer . . ." to virtually every question he was asked.

Among other questions he dodged were queries as to whether he ever knew White, central figure in the recent controversy between attorney-general Herbert Brownell and ex-president Truman, or Elizabeth Bentley, former Communist courier who has been a star witness before numerous Red investigations.

Wheeler was accompanied to the hearing by San Francisco attorney George Anderson whom he consulted for advice after each question by committee counsel.

Almost invariably, his reply was: "I refuse to answer on grounds it might tend to incriminate me."

Prisoners Describe Red Build-Up

Slave Laborers Return to Japan

Shinobu Higashi, a member of the Associated Press staff in Tokyo, was a prisoner of the Russians in Siberia for almost four years after the war. He lived in Vancouver before the war and attended the University of British Columbia. He was a correspondent in Manchuria when it was overrun by the Russians. Since he has considerable knowledge of Soviet Asia, he was sent to cover the return of 811 Japanese prisoners from Siberia.

BY SHINOBU HIGASHI

MAIZURA, Japan (AP)—Russia has built an atomic arsenal and a terrifying military establishment in Siberia with slave labor, repatriated Japanese war prisoners said today.

For eight years, most of the 811 former Japanese soldiers and civilians who returned Tuesday were forced to work in slave labor camps to build up Russia's military might, they reported.

A Japanese civilian expert on Russian affairs described the Soviet economic and military buildup in Siberia as terrifying.

Convicted as war criminals by the Russians, the Japanese were the first to come back from Siberia since April, 1950.

Their return from Siberia to this port was arranged by a Japanese Red Cross delegation in Moscow. They arrived on the passenger ship Koan.

A woman repatriate said she learned of the atom bomb plant from a Russian worker who had helped to build it.

She said the plant sprawled in the Angara River area, west of Lake Baikal in south-central Siberia.

The woman, who asked not to be named, said she was told uranium ore from the Arctic Circle was brought up the Yenesei River to the plant on the Angara, which is a tributary of the Yenesei. The Yenesei empties into the Arctic Ocean.

Others said they had heard that Japanese war prisoners never accounted for by the Russians were in slave camps inside the Arctic Circle of central Siberia and farther south along the sea of Okhotsk, working in uranium mines. The sea lies north of Japan.

The highest ranking officer, Lt.-Gen. Yoichi Hitomi, said the Russians had built many jet fighter and bomber bases in Siberia.

Col. Uichi Hosagawa, former public information officer of the Kwangtung army and virtual dictator of Manchuria's wartime press, termed the development in eastern Siberia frightening in its vastness and relentless progress.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THE PUBLIC works people have a keen sense of timing. They waited until I bought a new car, then they built a swamp on the highway between my house and the office.

The swamp is just on the town side of the Six-Mile House. Anyone who hasn't visited this man-made beauty spot should drive there at once and look it over.

The public works people have erected 15-mile-an-hour signs on the approaches to it. I suppose they want motorists to drive slowly so that they can get a good look at the swamp.

A man is there waving a red flag. He is the guide. I know he will be only too glad to show you the points of interest, and steer your car through a route where the mud is especially rich and deep.

The road men are to be congratulated on one of the neatest bits of swamp-building seen in these parts for many a year. They did the job so quickly, too. One day there was nothing but a dull old road. Next day—presto! These miracle workers had changed it into a fine, juicy stretch of marshland.

Some of us swamp-viewers are so keen on our hobby that we drive through this little slough twice a day.

You can always identify a swamp-viewer by his car. It doesn't look like a car at all, but resembles a harbor dredging craft after a tough day's work.

* * *

There are signs of a renewed interest in mining along the Gorge Road. Some company has evidently been doing exploratory work on the highway some distance beyond the plywood mill.

Almost every day one of my wheels finds one of their shafts and disappears up to the hub. But I never see any miners standing around, so perhaps the shafts have been abandoned. I hope not.

It was bad enough when the Victoria public works people closed down the rock quarry which they operated for so many years in the middle of the Gorge Road. A lot of us had come to think of it as a permanent feature of the city's landscape. The Chamber of Commerce should do something.

* * *

Another new industry started recently in the front lobby of the Victoria Press building, where a couple of fellows have set up a carpenter shop.

These carpenters came in a couple of weeks ago to install an air-conditioning system for the down-stairs office, and they liked the place so well, apparently, that they decided to stay and go into business here.

It's a crowded shop, with hammers, saws, sawhorses, bits of plywood and "Please Use the Other Door" signs lying around all over the place. A crowded shop is a busy shop, I always say. So if you want to fix up some shelves or get a new padded den built for yourself, you know whom to ask.

Records Set In Welfare

Two new records were set during November by federal welfare payments, according to W. R. Bone, regional director.

Payments of $5,541,112 were shared by 442,987 British Columbians. Of this number 359,431 were children, who received family allowances amounting to $2,173,062, and the remaining $3,368,050 went to 83,553 old age pensioners.

In November, 206 old age security pensioners entered B.C. from other provinces and 83 left for other provinces. During November 600 families receiving family allowances entered B.C. and 535 left.

ATHENS (AP) — A new earthquake injured at least six persons, collapsed 90 houses and damaged 300 others Monday night in south central Greece. First reports from the quake area made no mention of any fatalities. Official dispatches said six persons were injured in the village of Makrynou and an unspecified number hurt in adjoining hamlets.

Advance Bids Pouring In For Kinsmen Charity Auction

Advance bids began pouring in last night on articles to be sold in the Kinsmen charity auction December 10.

Scores of valuable articles were displayed yesterday before pre-bidding began in the show room of National Motors, where they will remain until the night of the auction.

Pre-bidding on the various items will continue daily until the night of the auction.

Winners of two turkey draws last night for pre-bidders were D. R. Philbrick, Box 2033, RR 5, and Miss L. Edwards, Box 2053, Arbutus Road.

A television set is to be given away December 10 in connection with the auction. An electric stove, refrigerator, gas stove and a Consul car are among big items to be auctioned. Among other major items are a rototiller, a number of valuable electric appliances, $25 worth of driving lessons and a quantity of canned salmon. Some 50 hockey sticks, autographed by members of the Cougar team, will be sold. A number of the sticks were sold in five minutes last year.

Island Cadets Given Trophy

The Amphion Sea Cadet Corps of Nanaimo has won the junior attendance trophy of the Navy League of Canada, it was announced yesterday.

The Rainbow Sea Cadet Corps of Victoria placed second in the Gibson Cup for attendance in senior corps. This award, presented for the first time this year, was won by the Rodney Corps of Saint John, N.B.

Comment Favorable To BCHIS Change

"It's a complete reversal of the former attitude," said Jack MacKenzie, president of Local 1-118, International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL). "It makes it appear the policy was wrong in the first place."

"It should have been that way long before," was the comment of Victor Midgley, spokesman for the AFL-TLC carpenters' union.

The Trades and Labor Council (TLC) recently asked Hospital Insurance Commissioner Lloyd Detwiller whether compulsory payroll deductions were required by statute or by cabinet order. Mr. Detwiller's reply is expected to be placed before a council meeting tonight.

LESSON LEARNED

Reaction of opposition politicians generally was along the line that "the government has learned its lesson—at last."

"It's a bit amusing to see Social Credit, which has been so independent, falling into line when it comes up against reality," said Frank Snowsell, former CCF MLA for Saanich. "They've backed down on this, on the Roston Formula and on Bill 49. What they're doing is proving the opposition was right and Social Credit was wrong."

"In my opinion, Martin and his cabinet colleagues lack the political courage to carry out prosecutions against those who break the law of the land," said Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, former Liberal MLA for Victoria.

"Martin could have saved himself and his government a lot of embarrassment, in having to admit now that his methods were wrong, if he had implemented some of the recommendations of the hospital insurance inquiry board during their first session," said Robert M. Strachan, CCF member for Cowichan-Newcastle.

INQUIRY BOARD

(The inquiry board, an all-party legislative committee, spent a year investigating the entire hospital insurance set-up and recommended improvements which were never implemented.)

"If Martin really wants the answer he should follow the board's recommendation that all low-income groups should be given free hospital insurance coverage," Mr. Strachan said.

Mr. Snowsell agreed. "Low-income groups should be told definitely that they're covered," he said. "This is a dirty trick, which puts undue strain on those people who can't pay and are genuinely worried about their hospital bills. They're put in the invidious position of having to pile up debts which they can't pay."

"Martin has broken his absolute pledged word that he would never make hospital insurance compulsory," Captain Proudfoot said.

"He's going to be the sole judge of who can and who cannot pay, with no right of appeal . . . Personally, I think they're trying to overcome their lack of foresight. They should have studied the inquiry board report."

Captain Proudfoot was a member of the inquiry board.

Contributions still straggling into Chest coffers and possible reductions in expenses listed may result in more money being made available for member agencies.

Colliney Haddock, campaign committee chairman, said only $47,802 had been collected under the industrial-commercial division and described the result as a great surprise and disappointment.

He said payroll deduction contributions were favored by industry and suggested that an educational program be launched next year to give industry a better opportunity of taking advantage of the plan.

Details of budgeting for the coming year were outlined by R. A. Dykes, honorary treasurer of the Chest.

Snobs Both Ways On Plant Names

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

One afternoon last summer, a friend who was visiting asked me the name of a plant in the rock garden. "That's Sedum Ewersi," I answered, rather proud of the fact that for once I was able to remember the name of it.

He gave me a long, cold look. "What's the matter?" he said. "Can't you speak English?" He had me stumped. As far as I know, there isn't any common name for this little Siberian plant.

I think is is a form of snobbery which compells some people to resist the Latin names for plants. They pride themselves on their plain, common sense, and will have nothing to do with such nonsense.

At the other end of the scale, I have a doctor friend who has built up a terrific reputation for himself as a knowledgable gardener by always quoting a Latin name for everything in his garden. His system is quite simple—whenever he is stuck for a name, he simply substitutes one of his medical terms, and nobody knows the difference.

The first time I encountered this performance, he had me on the ropes, gasping for breath. As we strolled through his garden, he kept tossing off Latin names in the most offhand fashion, and none of them would ring the bell for me. Thus, one plant was called Dementia Praecox, another was Anging Pectoris and I was wondering why all my garden lore had suddenly evaporated when he gave the game away by calling a fairly common rock plant a Rheumatoid Arthritis.

Contrary to popular opinion, the botanists don't put Latin names on plants just to make things more difficult. You see, the common names for plants vary from country to country, and even from district to district, and international correspondence would be impossible without a universally recognized name for every plant.

A boy may be known as Clarence to his mother, Butch to his friends, Honeybug to his girl friend, and something quite unprintable to his teacher. In the same way, the plant you call Bleeding Heart may be known as Dutchman's Breeches to the man up the street, and as Lady's Eardrops elsewhere. You can see the confusion that arises when only common names are used.

Plants get their names in pretty much the same way that people did originally. In the beginning, and even as late as Biblical times, people only had one name—John, Mary, Peter, and so on. When there got to be too many Johns in town, some distinguishing name had to be tacked on, like John the Smith, John the arrow maker (Fletcher), or the John with the auburn hair (Brown). Sometimes, the name of a person's home town was used to distinguish him from others of the same name, as Joseph of Arimathea, or the Mary from Magdala.

It is the same with plants. The first name is assigned arbitrarily, while the second name is usually descriptive in some way, either stressing some distinguishing feature, or the country of its origin, or the name of the plant explorer who discovered it.

It isn't too hard to get the hang of Latin plant names, even without a high school Latin course, and it adds a lot to the pleasure of gardening to be able to name your plants correctly, to say nothing of that satisfying sense of superiority over your neighbors. The first names have to be memorized—there is no short-cut method here—but you can usually figure out the meaning of the second name by looking hard at it and using your native intelligence.

Hence, Floribunda means that the plant has an abundance of flowers, Uniflora means it has only one flower, and Grandiflora means it has big flowers. Odora means it is scented, while Citriodora must mean that it has the scent of lemons. You see what I mean? It's easy if you try.

Chinensis, Japonica, Nootkaensis, and Americanum all refer to the place of origin, while Drummondi, Douglasi, and Farreri all refer to the plant explorers who first discovered these varieties.

This last name, Farreri, always brings to my mind a mental picture of a shallow, rocky grave, marked by a crude cairn of boulders, high on the flank of a mountain on the border between Western China and Tibet—the last resting place of Reginald Farrer, who gave to the world the incredibly lovely Gentian Farreri.

Scientist With Navy Termed Spy

WASHINGTON (AP). — Senate investigators disclosed Tuesday that in 1945 the Federal Bureau of Investigation identified a wartime scientist in the office of Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King as a Soviet agent ... the hush-hush proximity fuse.

A hitherto secret portion of an FBI report on Soviet espionage, released by the Senate internal security subcommittee, said the identification was made possible by Igor Gouzenko.

The subcommittee deleted the scientist's name from the report and identified him only as "X."

The report described Mr. X as a native-born American who went to work for the wartime office of scientific research and development and was assigned as a scientific consultant to King. As commander-in-chief of the U.S. fleet and chief of naval operations, King was the highest officer in the navy.

Information developed by the RCMP, the report said, indicated it is possible that Mr. X gave secrets of the proximity fuse to Dr. Allan Nunn May, British scientist and confessed Soviet spy who was stationed in Montreal during the war.

The FBI report said May passed on a garbled description of the fuse to the Soviets.

The Senate subcommittee said it released the part of the FBI report dealing with Mr. X to show why it wants to question Gouzenko. Gouzenko turned against Russia in 1945 and enabled Canada to crack open operations of a Soviet spy network with contacts in the United States.

At Ottawa, there was no official comment and no apparent official concern. It was believed here information dealing with a member of King's staff had been made public before in the United States.

Salmon Cargoes Seized

VANCOUVER (CP). — One of the largest seizures of salmon reported on the Vancouver waterfront was made by Department of Fisheries officers Monday.

Two shipments of fresh chum salmon, totaling 41,000 pounds, were seized from two packers by inspectors Dean Lockwood and L. C. Goodman.

A department spokesman charged that the two shipments originated in the Gulf Islands or Vancouver Island waters, where commercial fishing has been closed for more than two weeks.

Freight Adjustments Help CNR, Hurt CP

OTTAWA (CP). — The CPR will take a $300,000 annual loss through freight-rate adjustments ordered recently, while the CNR will gain $100,000, spokesmen estimated before the Board of Transport Commissioners Tuesday.

The board, working on a general rate equalization plan that will not be effective before early 1955, ordered the interim adjustments for November 15 to bring Western and Central rate levels closer together. The railways were ordered to drop western "class" (ceiling) rates five per cent and were permitted to put in compensating 10 per cent boosts in Ontario and Quebec.

Witnesses for the two big carriers testified Tuesday, as the board continued equalization hearings, that the move would cost the CPR $1,000,000 and the CNR $933,783 in the West and that they would pick up in the East, respectively, $700,000 and $1,037,000. A relatively high proportion of the CPR's revenue comes from the West, while the CNR has heavier operations in the East.

Meanwhile, the board heard complaints from British Columbia and Saskatchewan that the railways have not made the November 15 reductions fully effective in the West.

They protested that the rates have not been applied to the "pickup-and-delivery" service under which the railways haul goods from door to door.

Provincial spokesmen claimed these rates have been regarded as class rates. A CPR spokesman said they were "competitive" rates — set to meet truck competition.

Tuesday's board sitting closed out 153 sessions in an inquiry into equalization that was ordered by Parliament in late 1951 and that included a series of trans-Canada hearings this year.

The board adjourned to January 8 to receive an Alberta plan of equalized rates, a compromise among four already before the board. Sittings then are expected to conclude the hearings, with the board establishing an equalized scale some time later.

It will be at least a year after that before the scale goes into effect, according to railway evidence.

Socreds Set For Sweep

REGINA (CP). — A plan for a Social Credit sweep of Canada was outlined Tuesday at the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Social Credit League by president Joseph Thauberger.

"We want to sweep the country province by province in their order," he said in his presidential report. "We must avoid being a gap in the movement to be filled after our neighbor province has a strong group in the national government."

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP). — A huge Air Force hospital plane on a training mission from Texas collided with a Navy trainer high over Central California Tuesday. Both planes, badly damaged, made safe landings.

The C54 hospital plane, carrying a crew of four, set down at Travis Air Force Base, one of its four propellers ripped away and its right side mangled.

The Navy trainer, with two aboard, landed at Alameda Naval Air Station. Its tail surfaces were gone and the right wing-tip damaged.

Washington Cuts Deaths On Highways

OLMPIA (AP). — Forty-one fewer persons were killed on Washington highways during November than during the same month in 1952, State Patrol chief James A. Pryde announced Tuesday.

"This is the greatest reduction in traffic deaths recorded during the past five years," he said.

Pryde's statement was included in a traffic fatality report of the results of the first month of Governor Langlie's war on traffic violators.

At the end of the first half of the campaign, the score was:

Deaths from traffic accidents during November, 1953: 35.

Deaths from traffic accidents during November, 1952: 76.

Swiss Establish Merchant Fleet

BERNE (Reuters) — Landlocked Switzerland has adopted a full maritime code to go with a 36-ship national merchant fleet intended to assure her overseas supply lines in case of a third world war.

The code has been approved by the federal assembly and will come into force January 1.

Among the main conditions for registering an ocean-going ship as Swiss, with the right to fly the Swiss flag, are that the owners must be Swiss and have their head office in Switzerland. All share-holders in an owning company must be Swiss and at least three-quarters of them, representing three-quarters of the total capital must be resident in Switzerland.

Basle, the main Swiss port on the Rhine, is the only port of registration for Swiss ocean-going ships.

About 1,000 men sail under the Swiss flag at present but only some 25 per cent of them are Swiss nationals. Swiss shipping companies, with the encouragement of the federal authorities, are working to train more men to be deep-sea sailors.

The fleet has grown into one of the most modern and best equipped in the world. Twenty of the 36 ships were built after 1948. The fleet comprises 21 cargo ships, 12 coasters two oil tankers and one oil tanker specially fitted for carrying wine.

Wheat Futures Trading Resumes at Liverpool

LIVERPOOL, England (CP) Wheat futures trading resumed here Tuesday after a 14-year lapse.

Futures trading, which allows traders and millers to guard themselves against fluctuations in world prices, produced a handful of deals in Canadian, Argentine, United States and Australian wheat for delivery next May and July.

The main significance lay in the resumption in a temporary building of the market which served in prewar days as the main indicator of world wheat prices. The limited trading Tuesday was expected.

The first transaction involved wheat prices at 23s 6d a 100 pounds ($1.97 a bushel) for delivery in British ports next May. The price, which subsequently dropped about three pence, was in line with prevailing rates for Argentine wheat. There were early transactions for July delivery at two pence higher.

The prices were lower than Canada's International Wheat Agreement maximum of $2.05 a bushel for No. 1 northern and higher than the IWA minimum of $1.55 a bushel. The non-IWA price a bushel quoted at Winnipeg Monday for wheat in store at the Lakehead, Vancouver and Montreal was $1.87¾.

Britain left the International Wheat Agreement this year, preferring to let her private traders supply the country at the best price they could find.

U.S. Asks Probe Of Red Atrocities

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP). Russia's Andrei Vishinsky Tuesday denounced as "bosh" the American charges that the Reds killed thousands of soldiers and civilians by atrocities in Korea. He counter-charged that the Americans and South Koreans committed many war crimes.

American chief delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. promptly challenged the Soviet top delegate to perimt an impartial commission of inquiry full access to all of Korea and China to learn the full facts.

Lodge previously had not asked for a commission because the Americans assumed the Russions would not let it go behind the Bamboo Curtain. They still do not expect Russian approval for such an investigation.

Vishinsky attempted in his speech to punch holes in the documents put before the assembly by Lodge. These contained sworn statements by survivors of death marches and massacres and interrogations of Communist prisoners alleged to have taken part in a number of the reported atrocities. Lodge said there were 38,000 victims.

Vishinsky claimed many points were not settled in the documents. He declared that killings reported to have been committed by North Koreans and Communist Chinese actually were the result of wholesale bombings by American planes.

He charged that Americans wiped out cities such as Taejon and in doing so killed many women and children.

Vishinsky declared that atrocities item is a "flagrantly concocted falsification, redolent with slander and a recital of events which never took place."

He charged it was part of psychological warfare intended to blow up the peace negotiations in Korea.

Vishinsky admitted there were bad conditions for prisoners at times "because the Americans bombed everything."

Jenner Ready To Drop Plan For Gouzenko

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP). — The chairman of a Senate internal subcommittee indicated Tuesday it probably will drop plans to question Igor Gouzenko, a former Russian embassy code clerk who told about an atomic spy ring.

"I don't want him to testify if he feels it will endanger him and his family," said Senator William E. Jenner (Rep., Ind.) in an interview at Standiford airport.

Jenner was en route to Washington, where the subcommittee is scheduled to discuss the Gouzenko problem today. His statment was prompted by press reports that Gouzenko, who once agreed to talk to the committee, has changed his mind for personal and family security reasons.

"If he feels that way, he is entitled to protection," said Jenner, adding he would be willing to go to Canada to get Gouzenko's story about a Russian atomic spy ring.

Gouzenko has been under protection of the Canadian government ever since he told about the atomic spy ring in 1945.

Resting — After a Long, Hard Day!

Twenty minutes ago, the man you see in this picture came out of a long and harassing conference — tired, tense and with a bit of a headache.

And he said to himself — "I'll take the long way home tonight and drive out by the waterfront, and let the Cadillac relax me!"

And that's just what he's doing.

If you own a 1953 Cadillac, you know exactly what's taking place. But if you don't — let's see what happens as he climbs into the driver's seat and lets his wonderful car begin its magic.

It's relaxing just to sit there — and look out over that long, beautiful hood into the beckoning distance.

The seat cushions hold him in buoyant comfort; the slender wheel fits naturally into his hands; great areas of glass surround him and let each glance reveal a panorama.

And, of course, he's proud and happy — for it's an endless satisfaction to own and command such a respected possession.

And now comes the great lift to his spirits: He touches the key, and hears that deep-throated response so characteristic of a Cadillac engine — and, in an instant, he's off for a wonderful, wonderful hour!

Steering is no more than a gesture . . . the lightest touch on the throttle gets immediate action — smooth, quick and positive . . . the brakes are easy and certain under his foot.

So he just sits back and rolls along — with the soft sound of the wind for a lullaby — and the beautiful view for a tonic — resting, relaxing, at peace with the world!

His wife will never suspect, as he wheels into the driveway, that he was a tired and tense and weary husband just one short hour ago.

That's one of the nicest things about a Cadillac. It's a proven therapeutic for a work-weary man!

Try it, soon, at the end of a long, hard day. We'll furnish the car. You name the time and place.

Another Year Passing

ANOTHER year is passing without decisive action taken by the City in connection with Point Ellice Bridge. The load and speed restrictions remain, the faulty bridge is a year older, and what has been arranged for its eventual closure, repair or replacement? One does not know of any other city in Canada with two bridges over an estuary which would be content to drag along from year to year with one in an acknowledgedly weakened state. It was public lassitude half a century ago, the vague feeling that remedies were in the lap of time, which led on to the collapse of the original structure.

Victoria West is not receiving its due regard in this continuing neglect of what could become an equally dangerous situation. This quarter of the city depends on Point Ellice Bridge to a degree not shared by other sections of the community. This was the artery, Esquimalt Road, which built up Victoria West in the first instance. In later times Point Ellice has served as an easement to the traffic flowing across the Gorge via the Johnson Street Bridge at the industrial reserve. Both structures, however, have remained in use: Point Ellice Bridge with driving and weight restrictions for several years in succession. Meanwhile the old bridge is not getting any stronger or younger. What engineers said about it remains unchanged.

Early in the new year the city should resolve this matter one way or the other. To drift much farther with the bridge in its present condition of slowed down usefulness would be neither realistic nor wise. Back of genuine concern over Point Ellice Bridge is the spectre of a tragedy that this community does not wish to see again ever. Much better to close the structure outright than to take the risk of that, if repair or replacement cannot be achieved soon.

Open Season on Motorists

VANCOUVER city police department's use of disguised officers, dubbed the "ghost" squad, to pursue and intercept motorists who break the traffic laws has drawn fire from the British Columbia Automobile Association. Recently the association passed a resolution expressing doubt as to the advisability of using officers not clearly identifiable as police. Why? Motorists who disregard rules made for public safety are no different from other lawbreakers. Not long ago the RCMP used an officer in disguise with conspicuous success in breaking up a drug ring, but no one except possibly the peddlers and addicts saw anything unfair in that.

There is a far too general belief that catching traffic offenders is some sort of game to be played under a code of sporting rules; or that using traps is an infringement of every driver's inherent freedom to violate the law so long as nobody is looking. The same outcry of "unfair" has been raised in parts of the United States where devices using the principle of radar have been introduced to clock speeders.

It would be altogether different if the authorities employed police officers in disguise to provoke drivers into breaking the law so that they could make arrests. There has been nothing to suggest anything of the sort in Vancouver, however. On the contrary the members of the "ghost" squad appear to be exceedingly fair, using admonition in preference to hailing offenders into court except in flagrant cases. In the circumstances it is strange to find an organization dedicated among other things to improving standards of driving voicing criticism of the perfectly legal methods adopted by the police to accomplish that very purpose.

In Vancouver and throughout the province the toll of death and injury has become so serious that something had to be done. The truth of the matter is that motorists generally have been given far too many chances. Those in Vancouver who have relied on the rear-view mirror to tell them when it was "safe" to break the law may be more cautious now that they know that the benevolent-looking gentleman tailing them in the nondescript sedan is apt to be a policeman.

Chivalry in Jamaica

THE MAN who emulated Sir Walter Raleigh when the Queen was in Jamaica meant no harm. He saw a puddle and spread his cloak so that Her Majesty might be saved discomfort. Unlike the Elizabethan courtier, however, he was pounced on and taken to jail. There he showed his loyal emblem, an inscription "God Save the Queen," and was soon released. The incident ended in good will all round.

The age of chivalry is not dead, as the Jamaica story makes plain, but its disdisclosure is nowadays apt to be misconstrued. Raleigh was known to those who guarded his sovereign, whereas the Jamaican was unknown and his intentions could not be self-evident. When he moved to approach the Queen so perforce did the officials surrounding her intercept him, as was their duty and discretion. It took courage to attempt what he did, said the would-be 20-Century courtier after he was released, and no one can deny that; only his wisdom is in question.

The incident serves to pinpoint the delicate balance involved in Royal processions through public ranks. The Queen might have stepped on the coat as her namesake did 400 years ago, but perhaps only at the risk of her action being also misconstrued, so ready are certain elements in some lands to make propaganda. As it was Her Majesty smiled calmly and stepped aside as she passed on.

No doubt the incident will linger in the minds of both sovereign and subject. For the Queen it will be evidence of a deep-rooted loyalty, mistaken in display but apparently nevertheless real; for the Jamaican who had been planning this gesture of homage for many a day there will be the consolation that, like the famed Sir Walter, he did actually spread his cloak.

SESSIONAL INDEMNITIES

Sir,—How long are we going to continue to be led around by the nose by those people in Ottawa? Now we are told they are planning on voting themselves an extra $1,000 or more per year of our money. Are we, the people, going to allow this? Surely it is our inalienable right to express our disapproval.

If Ottawa has money to throw away like this, why do they not reduce our unreasonably heavy taxes? What makes the members of the government think they are worth $9,000 a year of our money? Very few of them are worth the $6,000 they are already paid, and a great many of them could not earn that sort of money outside of politics.

What about pensions for old people without a means test? What about increasing the war veterans' allowance? Surely these men, who fought and bled to keep Canada safe, are worthy of more than the mere pittance they now receive. What about the recent ruling by Veterans Minister Lapointe that any money earned by a veteran's wife at casual labor, such as baby-sitting, be deducted from her husband's already pitifully small pension? Again I say, wake up, people of Canada.

DRUNKEN DRIVING

Sir,—The festive season is almost upon us once more bringing joy to many and sad memories, due to the callousness, selfishness and utter disregard for the safety of others, to many.—I refer to the mixing of drinks and gasoline. Nearly every day we read of so and so being fined $200 or $250 for impaired driving, or, in plain language, drunken driving.

Within the past few days I have narrowly escaped injury or worse when overtaking one such driver weaving back and forth across Craigflower Road, and the same night meeting another one near the intersection of Admirals and Craigflower Roads, doing the same sort of driving and finally pulling up in the ditch just before I should have passed him. I left him there to get out the best way he could, thankful he took the ditch rather than myself. They evidently do not care for themselves or their families and care much less for others.

There are many things we do not like about Russian ideology, but it is suggested that we emulate them with regard to their method of handling the problem of drunken driving. Here it is. When apprehended by the police, the car is impounded, the driver is immediately taken to the nearest hospital where the stomach pump is used at once. After this very uncomfortable operation is completed, he is asked to forthwith pay to the hospital the sum of $50 for their services. If he or she is not able to pay this amount on the spot he or she has no alternative but to start to work it out on very menial hospital duties. It is not considered as a fine but simply as a fixed charge for services rendered. There is absolutely no bail allowed.

How many of these thoughtless drivers would return for a second application and would our hospitals object to the fees collected? It is food for thought by those who are tired of seeing these road fiends get off with a fine or suspension of license. I am not a teetotaller nor a crank, but if these fools will mix gasoline and whisky they have to undergo some more drastic treatment, as fines and suspensions do not seem to act as a deterrent or we would not see so many cases of "impaired driving." In this one respect, I agree with the Russian remedy.

Thinking Aloud

. . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings"

By TOM TAYLOR

IT was not until I saw last Sunday's Colonist I remembered that the next day was St. Andrew's Day, which goes to show how far I am straying from the paths of rectitude these days. And there was that map of the clans too, which rather upset my applecart.

You see, although I looked at it with a microscope I couldn't find my name listed, and that made me the butt of my office pals. At least I shall so describe them, if only out of courtesy. They couldn't spot my name either (no wonder since it wasn't there), and of course now they suspect I'm sort of ersatz, an awful blow to one previously thought to be a professional.

It was Burns, wasn't it, who wanted a stranger to tell us how we looked, hence the eagerness with which I fastened on this history of the Scots race. And oh, what a smack I got when I discovered I was an Irishman. It happens that through the wall on either elbow I have an Irish colleague, and . . .

Well, isn't that enough?

* * *

Personally, I've come to the conclusion I'm really Egyptian gone blond. At the time the Scone Stone was stolen I delved deep into musty documents and learned it was part of the dowry of the Princess Scota, daughter of the Pharaoh who was drowned in the Red Sea. And obviously that's where the name Scots come from, so you see I'm really of royal blood.

However, I will say the chap who wrote about St. Andrew and the folk who adopted him kept a pretty level head. Except maybe about the haggis. This is a delicate subject. It takes a genius to handle it, both on and off the table.

Good for him, he said it was a distinctive dish, and never was a more true word spoken. But I think he should have stopped there; no need at all to go into detail, foreigners don't understand and they look askance at me enough as it is. For instance, when I say to my alleged office pals I had to become a Canadian in order to see a haggis let alone eat one, you should note the glint in their eye. It scares me.

They think I am a . . . er four-letter word meaning prevaricator. And of course such an assertion doesn't help my professional standing.

* * *

My, but I enjoyed that story about Peter and Andrew, however. I wish I had thought it up myself. Who says those gloomy old John Knoxian ministers couldn't crack a wise-crack?

My heart sank a bit when I read that the Scotch (that's the feature writer's spelling, not mine, and apt to be confusing since a lot of non-Scots certainly dabble in Scotch), when they fit to a foreign land, carry their bagpipes with them. I came ashore at Halifax in the long ago without a pipe of any kind, and so, I see now, I let my clan down badly.

What clan, says you, recalling the aforesaid map. To which the rejoinder is that the permutations of sept relationships are too abstruse to be bandied idly about.

One thing more. Was I glad the printer didn't make a mistake when he had to typeset "a proud, tight-knit race"? Imagine if he had left out the second half of the second of these descriptive adjectives?

Not but what it's a libel (you know what I mean, I daren't be too specific), and it came out of Aberdeen in the first place, more shame to that city of . . . yes, granite is right. I wouldn't wonder indeed if the Aberdonians weren't the real Irishmen.

Tut, tut, but I'll be in trouble now for saying that.

Stiffening France's Backbone

By J. G. HAYDEN, from Washington

THE twice-postponed Bermuda conference of United States, British and French chiefs of state, which will convene on Friday, has evolved almost exclusively into an American-British effort to stiffen France's backbone on two fronts.

First, President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill will make a final supreme effort to induce the French Chamber of Deputies to ratify the NATO treaty for community defense of Western Europe which the French government itself originated. On that score, Premier Laniel will be confronted with a flat choice of securing ratification of the treaty within the next 60 days or witnessing rearmament by Germany independently.

Second, Eisenhower and Churchill will try to wean France away from a policy of shuttle-and-run in Indo-China which the same Chamber of Deputies is threatening.

Of these two backslidings, Indo-China at this moment is much the more acute. Just after Vice-President Nixon at Saigon recently exhorted the French and Vietnamese natives to continue to fight "until victory is completely won," Premier Laniel told his parliament that France was not seeking "unconditional surrender."

"No more than the Americans in Korea," Laniel said, "shall we require unconditional surrender of the enemy to negotiate with him. Not any more than the United States is France making war for war's sake, and if an honorable solution was in sight locally or internationally France, I repeat, as the United States in Korea, would be happy to have a diplomatic solution of the conflict."

The immediate inducement of this statement by Laniel was the resignation by Rene Pleven, former prime minister and secretary of defense, from leadership of his Democratic and Social Union Party after the executive committee of that group voted in favor of suing for Indo-Chinese peace.

A week earlier Prime Minister Laniel had won a 317-251 vote in the Chamber of Deputies in favor of continuing the Indo-Chinese war, but this only after he had accepted a compromise to avert otherwise certain defeat.

The conditions laid down by the majority were that the government (1) must seek peace by negotiation, (2) develop as fast as possible armies of the three Indo-Chinese states to take full responsibility for self-defense, and (3) insure that sacrifices are justly shared by all the free nations.

No doubt the demand of the French people for relief from the terrific costs in both lives and treasure of the Indo-Chinese war is very real. Particularly since France has offered virtually complete independence to the natives if and when the war ends, French citizens see the conflict as a total loss to themselves, no matter who wins it.

* * *

Stimulating French defeatism even more, however, is the constantly increasing evidence of American interest in the Indo-Chinese war, expressed by our assumption of nearly two-thirds of the monetary and material cost of carrying it on.

A good many prominent French politicians are advancing the idea that French withdrawal would mean simply that the United States, and whoever else in the United Nations might choose to help, would take over the bleeding and dying as well as the financial bill.

Great Britain, while it so far has avoided any assumption of Indo-Chinese burdens, may on account of the inevitably disastrous effect of defeat there on nearby British Hong Kong and Malaya be even more anxious than the U.S. to keep the French fighting.

Meanwhile, Laniel's task of securing French ratification of the NATO defense treaty seems equally difficult, despite the 275-244 vote of confidence he received last Friday on foreign policy. In fact, opposition with that regard comes from very much the same parliamentary factions that are trying to throw Indo-China overboard.

* * *

Two factors that conceivably may press the NATO to a successful conclusion are, first, the increasing obduracy of the Russians, and second, French fear of a rearmed Germany.

On the first of these counts it is notable that Gen. Charles de Gaulle recently declared that France should ask Russia for a direct "yes or no" answer to whether the Soviets can work out an agreement with the Western world. De Gaulle has been among the most vociferous opponents of the North Atlantic Treaty, but it appears that he is finding that position uncomfortable.

And Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of Germany, recently returned to power by landslide vote, has made it unmistakably clear that Germany is going to arm, whether in or out of the NATO.

Canada and Dumping

(From The Toronto Globe and Mail)

CANADA is in no position to complain of "dumping" by foreign exporters into our market while our own Government is selling off its store of canned pork at 15 cents a pound after having paid 57 cents a pound for it. The cost of processing and storing, plus the cost of selling this pork to West Germany, must be added to the 42 cents per pound loss which taxpayers of the nation must bear.

This operation is being conducted by the Dominion department of agriculture. It had an original stock of 98,000,000 pounds. To earlier domestic sales are now added two consignments to Germany aggregating a little over 22,000,000 pounds. The remaining unsold stock is placed at 26,000,000 pounds. That will also be dumped, at home or abroad, with additional losses to be made up out of public funds. The loss to date is placed at $20,000,000. It could be $40,000,000 by the time the meat is all sold.

Such sales are pure dumping, as defined in international agreements aimed at preventing the sale of products into foreign markets at prices below those prevailing in the country of origin. Our department of agriculture is reported to be viewing with some alarm the likelihood that the United States will similarly dump its expensive stock of highly subsidized wheat upon foreign markets to the embarrassment of Canada. We are completely out of court on such issues so long as we offer the world one of the worst examples on record of dumping a national product under government auspices. If operations were directed toward the lowering of domestic prices the picture would be different. But the whole canned pork deal was designed to keep our home prices high. Government purchases were made deliberately to prevent the law of supply and demand from operating to the benefit of consumers.

There is no objection to letting West Germany have the cheap pork, if we are to persist in official dumping. But to be consistent we must be prepared to accept imports from West Germany no matter how far they undersell similar items produced in Canada. There must be some point at which our commercial honor is defensible. It is not defensible when we adopt dumping as a government policy and simultaneously make official protests when German hand tools, Japanese toys or American cotton goods undersell our own products on the basis of lower production costs.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

A FRIEND of mine was on a train that jumped the rails not long ago, and while there was no loss of life and the injuries suffered by crew and passengers were mostly minor, there were sundry hair-raising experiences which the passengers are not likely to forget in a hurry. My friend was in his lower berth in a sleeping car when the accident occurred and was thrown from his bunk. The sleeping car had halted in a tilted position, far over on its side. Imagine my friend's horror to discover, on reaching a window, that the car was perched on a bridge. It was hanging.

The solid ground was only a couple of car lengths away; but underneath was a drop of 40 feet to a wintry river. A sort of speechless panic immediately grew among the 15 passengers in the sleeper. They made for the exit nearest land. My friend warned them not to crowd to one end of the car, for fear their weight would be just enough to topple the car off its precarious perch. This shouted warning was sufficient to entitle my friend to be leader, or commander-in-chief, of the situation, and the frightened passengers drew cautiously back along the tilted corridor of the car.

"Porter!" commanded my friend.

From the far end of the car, the porter in his white coat came delicately. He had himself under complete control, in the best railroad tradition. He buttoned his white coat, adjusted his cap properly.

"Sir?" he replied, punctiliously, though slightly aslant.

"The far door is jammed," announced my friend. "Get that axe out of the glass-covered compartment back there. The red axe . . ."

"Oh, I can't do that, sir," reproved the porter. "That is to be used only in case of emergency!"

BLIND MAN'S BUFF

"One wet day I was walking along in rubbers making no sound at all, when suddenly I felt the furry coat of a big retriever dog standing in front of me. I started patting it. Suddenly a female voice cried, 'Sir, what are you doing?' I stood there flabbergasted, but we soon got things sorted out. It was a lady in a fur coat bending down to fix the rubbers on her shoes."

Quick Action Requested On B.C. Road Program

The provincial government has been asked for early formation and announcement of a broad long-range program of highway development.

E. W. Arnott of Victoria, president of the British Columbia Chamber of Commerce, said in a brief presented to the cabinet that the government should devote a substantial portion of the total provincial budget to highways.

The chamber praised the introduction of acts respecting "ribbon development" and a bill authority for highways and bridges.

Included in the brief was the suggestion that provincial borrowing might be necessary to provide highway projects adequate to meet the rapidly growing needs of the province.

A sharp note of criticism for the government's policy of instituting new forms of and additional taxes on natural resources was also contained in the brief.

The brief also urged the rescinding of rent control, which, according to a recent survey in Vancouver, is still in effect on 75 per cent of rental houses and suites. This, the chamber claimed, was not in the interests of fair treatment, and discriminated against a large number of property owners.

The government was urged to make an appropriate survey to determine the practicability of different routes for a suitable rail link connecting the vast Peace River district with coastal areas.

Space Running Out For Holiday Travel

Victorians planning to travel during the Christmas holiday had better make their reservations soon.

Transportation facilities out of Victoria report they can still handle a few more passengers, but the space is running out.

Canadian Pacific Steamships wharf office reported its allotment of staterooms and car space to Vancouver was completely filled for December 25, but some space is left for Immediately before the holiday.

Trans-Canada Air Lines has scheduled an extra seven flights besides the 12 regular return flights to Vancouver on December 24. Only a few reservations are left for Christmas Eve, but considerable space is available on Christmas Day in spite of the company's usual practice of reducing the regular flights to eight that day.

The company's four flights to Seattle on December 24 have been completely booked, but there is still some space left on Christmas Day.

Both the CPR and Trans-Canada Air Lines report plenty of space still available over the New Year's holiday.

Soloists from U.S.

Two principal soloists for performance of Haydn's "Creation" on December 14 will be Seattle artists, conductor Graham Sleed reported last night.

Dr. Edward Palmason, MD, tenor, and Sten Englund, bass, are well known artists in Victoria, having appeared in 1951 in Beethoven's "Choral Symphony." Mr. Englund also appeared in the role of Elija when that oratorio was sung in March, 1952.

Soprano soloist in this month's performance will be a Victoria artist, Margaret Dunn, who sang the "Creation" when it was done on a smaller scale last April.

Mr. Christian announced two weeks ago he would seek a seat on the council. He has withdrawn because of demands of other affairs.

Ferry George S. Pearson Does Well in Trials

Owners' acceptance run for the ferry George S. Pearson was held off Victoria yesterday and proved to be "very satisfactory", Gavin Mouat, of the Gulf Island Ferries Limited said.

The ship, which will operate on the Vesuvius Bay-Crofton run next spring, was put through a four-hour run by Captain George A. Maude, marine superintendent of the Gulf Island Ferries.

Trials were held under the supervision of Victoria Machinery Depot officials. VMD has just completed extensive reconditioning on the ferry at its Bay Street yard.

Tom Moffett, works manager of VMD, reported the vessel was run over the measured mile four times at an average speed of seven knots in the steering trials. During this test she turned around in the length of the ship.

The stern trial, in which the vessel is run full speed ahead and then put into full speed astern, to check how long it takes the ship to stop, also went well. It took just 29 seconds to come to a halt.

Mr. Moffett reported the ship will be turned over to the owners next week. At present they plan to tie her up at Fulford Harbor.

Mr. Mouat reported yesterday that they hope to staff operations on their new line early in April. Wharves first must be completed. A government subsidy has been granted for the wharves and work is expected to start early in the new year.

The ship, which can carry 24 cars and 135 passengers, is expected to make eight-round trips each day. It will make the crossing in about 20 minutes.

Among those who were aboard during the trial was George S. Pearson, former cabinet minister and Nanaimo, the Islands M.L.A. after whom the vessel is named.

John Henry Johnson Lost to Stampeders

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — The San Francisco Forty Niners Tuesday signed the fabulous John Henry Johnson, one-time St. Mary's and Arizona (Tempe) state halfback star and more recently a sensation in the Canadian pro leagues, to a 1954 contract.

Johnson, who was voted the most valuable player in Canada's Western Inter-Provincial Football Union as a member of the Calgary Stampeders this past season, will report to the club next summer "for spring training."

The negro back, now 24, was drafted last spring by the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Professional League. However, he refused to report to that club and instead went into Canadian football along with Frankie Albert, ex-Forty Niner quarterback star.

Albert described Johnson as "the greatest football player I've ever seen."

President Anthony Morabito of the Forty Niners said that a deal was worked with Pittsburgh wherein the Forty Niners gave up Ed Fullerton, Maryland defensive halfback. The deal actually took place last August and Fullerton reported to Pittsburgh this year and later traded to the Chicago Bears, where he refused to report.

"Our scouts and other coaches who have seen him in action rate him as one of the finest prospects ever to come into the National League," said Morabito.

Johnson is six foot, two inches tall and weighs in at 200. He is married and has four children and resides in nearby Pittsburg, Calif.

Stampeders Flattened By Report of Signing

CALGARY (CP) — News that John Henry Johnson had left Calgary Stampeders to play for San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League hit the Stampeder camp like a bombshell Tuesday night.

ON OTHER FOOT

"It's almost unbelieveable," said a frustrated and disappointed Bob Robinett, team manager. "I was talking to John Henry just last Saturday at the Grey Cup game and he led me to believe he would be back. I can't understand what happened. I'm shocked that a United States team would disregard the contract he had with a Canadian team as we had the option to renew his contract and certainly planned to do so."

The hard-running Negro halfback was a main cog in the Cowboys' plans for next year and it was no secret the Calgarians were building their club around him. Now all plans, including discussions of a new coach, must be adjusted to take in Johnson's absence.

Robinett, who personally handled all the details of signing Johnson last year, was plainly bewildered.

"They must have made him a terrific offer, that's all I can say. It's a disheartening thing, especially as we've done everything to induce him to return to Calgary. We made him a solid offer and I thought it would be just a matter of time before he accepted."

Robinett would not state the amount Johnson was offered but a good guess would be around the $10,000 mark.

Yesterday's score: Oak Bay 6, Victoria 3.

Final game: Tuesday, Victoria vs Esquimalt.

Oak Bay took the lead in the Inter-High School Junior Rugby League yesterday by defeating winless Victoria High School, 6-3, at Victoria High School grounds.

Winners are now one point ahead of Esquimalt but the second-place team can win the championship in the final game next Tuesday by besting Victoria. In their previous game, the clubs played to a scoreless draw. Esquimalt defeated Oak Bay in one game, 3-0, and tied the other, 3-3, while Victoria lost its first game to Oak Bay, 22-0.

Bob Harvey put Bays ahead yesterday when he went over for an unconverted try in the first half. Lewis Hilton got what proved to be the winning points early in the second half when he scored a try set up by a long run by Dave Ulrich. Midway through the half, captain Stewart Smith counted Victoria's points on a penalty kick.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Now that the hysteria is past and one can take a calmer look at Saturday's Grey Cup match, it would seem that "terrible" George Trafton, the outspoken coach of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, isn't too far wrong in his belief that Jack Jacobs is something less than sensational as a quarterback.

Trafton, it will be remembered, was roundly criticized for his action in a league playoff game when he sent in Joe Zaleski to call signals and Jacobs in to throw the passes whenever Zaleski called for them. I was among those that believed he [illegible] before Saturday's game, that the Bombers' only chance lay in starting Jacobs and going the distance with him. In the light of what happened, the Bombers might well have won it with Zaleski calling the plays and Jacobs doing the throwing.

But while Jacobs proved conclusively that he is a fine forward passer—you can't argue too much with 28 completions out of 46 attempts for 333 yards—the fact remains that his quarterbacking lacked versatility and the above impressive figures become less significant when it is recalled that the Bombers could only score one touchdown. The Hamilton Tiger-Cats, generally conceded to have the best pass defense in Canadian football, just made certain that Jacobs didn't click on too many long ones and when play moved well inside their territory, they were able to hold off because they knew Jacobs would continue to throw. With the Bomber wingline gaining the ascendancy in the second half, Gerry James and Tom Casey might have been called on more with good effect. A few good gains along the ground would have made it easier for Jacobs to click on payoff passes—the only ones that count when you stick to the air.

And while the cup final was a thrilling, well-played game between two evenly-matched teams, here at least the impression persists that Montreal Alouettes and Edmonton Eskimos would have been finalists but for injuries which caused them to be sidelined in league finals. Certainly, few would rank the Tiger-cats as one of the great Grey Cup champions.

* * *

Ted Reeve, Toronto Telegram sports columnist and a pretty fair sort of a player himself years back, took to poetry to describe another eastern Grey Cup win.

Oh, give me a home where the Western teams roam,
With their Vessels and Johnson and Dobbs;
Where seldom is heard a discouraging word
And the money is tossed in great gobs;
Oh, give me a land where the Jack Jacobs stand
And new coaches are merry and gay;
Until late in the fall when they sudenly stall
And the Grey Cup once more fades away-y-y-y-y-y.

Gelineau Claims Hawks Used Blackmail Methods

CHICAGO (CP) — Jack Gelineau, Quebec Aces' goalie called up to substitute for ailing Al Rollins in the Chicago Black Hawks net, was quoted Tuesday as saying he was pressed into service despite injuries and that the Hawks "threatened me with complete indifference."

Gelineau, who won the National Hockey League's rookie award with Boston Bruins in 1950, was goalie for the Hawks' last two games, both with Detroit Red Wings who scored 18 goals against him.

NOT READY

The Chicago American said Gelineau, before leaving for Quebec, stated:

"I'm in no physical condition to play hockey and the Quebec management told Chicago vice-president Bill Tobin that last week when they sought my services. For two weeks I've been troubled with strained tendons in both hip joints and I also suffered a sprained ankle.

"Tobin was told all this but he still insisted. He even threatened to recall Rags Raglan and Ken Wharram, two players the Black Hawks have on option at Quebec, if I didn't answer his summons. He said he needed a name player with previous big league experience and practically demanded Quebec send me, or else."

Tobin denied that he threatened to recall Raglan and Wharram.

"I don't care to comment further," Tobin added. "But Gelineau played every game with Quebec Aces until we recalled him. So he couldn't have been hurt too badly."

WIL Almost Unnoticed in Draft

Only one player from the Western International League was listed among the 52 drafted by the top eight minor leagues of organized baseball in the annual meeting at Atlanta yesterday.

George New, southpaw who won five and lost 12 with Spokane Indians, was claimed by Houston of the Texas League. Clyde DeWitt, who appeared briefly in the WIL before going to Salt Lake City, where he compiled a 19-8 record, was taken by Fort Worth, also of the Texas League. DeWitt had an 0-3 record with Spokane before the Indians optioned him to Salt Lake City.

Only three players were taken by Coast League clubs. Sacramento picked up righthander Emil Patrick, who won 11 and lost 12 for Birmingham of the Southern Association; Oakland added shortstop Russell Ross from Fort Worth, and Los Angeles went for outfielder Jacques Monette from New Orleans.

There was no report of any of the WIL clubs claiming players by the draft route from class "B" or lower leagues.

A total of $171,550 was paid for the 52 draftees.

Ashworth Six Points in Front, But WHL Scoring Race Good One

With the season about two-fifths of the way through a 70-game schedule, Calgary's Frank Ashworth holds a six-point lead in the race to see who will succeed Earl Reibel as Western Hockey League scoring champion.

Ashworth, who scored 96 points for Tulsa in 1948-49 and 78 points for the same club the next season, has 33 points, including the league high of 23 assists. In his two previous seasons in the WHL, the 26-year-old forward scored 48 and 41 points.

GETTING CLOSER

But, behind the leader, it is becoming quite a scramble with a dozen or more players moving up steadily. In second place are Wayne Brown, speedy little hustler of the Seattle Bombers, who has 16 goals and 11 assists, and Sid Finney, Calgary centre, who has played seven fewer games than Ashworth.

Victoria's Ed Dorohoy, with eight points in his last two games, and Calgary's Pat Lundy have moved up fast to 26 points to share fourth spot. Five players have 25 points and a total of 20 have 20 or more points.

Finney has the best record of all, getting his 27 points in 17 games. Edmonton coach Bud Poile, who had planned to retire from active competition this season, is right behind with 25 points in 16 games.

Fifteen players have scored 10 or more goals with New Westminster's Gordie Fashoway leading with 17. After Wayne Brown comes Lundy with 14 and Vancouver's Larry Popein with 13. Andy Hebenton and Sam Bettio of the Victoria Cougars each have 11.

Team-wise, the high-scoring Stampeders are in a class by themselves. They have six forwards who have scored 23 or more points and their team total of 267 points is almost double Saskatoon's 139-point total. The Stamps have scored 110 goals in 25 games. New Westminster has the second-best offensive record with 78 goals in 26 games.

Junior Teams Get $1,000 From Vessels

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimo all-star halfback Billy Vessels, winner of a $1,000 award as the outstanding Canadian football player of 1953, plans to turn some of the money over to Edmonton junior football clubs, it was reported Tuesday.

Vessels, leading ground-gainer in the Western Interprovincial Football Union this season, accepted the award last Friday while in Toronto to witness the Grey Cup game.

After the Canadian final, Vessels left Toronto for his home in Oklahoma City. He will re-enter the University of Oklahoma to continue studies toward a degree in education before reporting to the United States Army in June. He is a lieutenant in the reserve officer training corps.

Vessels may return to Edmonton next fall to participate in one or two WIFU games to receive credit for a second year in Canadian football.

Clippers Tangle with Vs In Commercial Feature

Victoria V's will be facing the tough task of stopping the league-leading Nanaimo Clippers at Memorial Arena tonight in order to ensure themselves of holding their newly-acquired second place in Victoria Commercial Hockey League standings.

The improving V's, who moved into a tie with Merchants last Wednesday as they downed Navy, 6-4, while the Merchants played to a 2-2 deadlock with Ed Shamlock's Clippers, took sole possession of the runner-up berth when Merchants lost 3-1 at Nanaimo Saturday.

Playing in the second game of the two-game program tonight, Dick Irving's youthful V's will have to do better than in their last Memorial Arena meeting with the Coaltowners, when they were snowed under by a 7-1 count.

NEED CHECKING

Foremost for the V's in their task of downing the Clippers will be holding in check the high-scoring line of Shamlock, Red Carr and Joe Zuback.

Carr is in second place in league scoring, with 13 goals and 12 assists for 25 points, 12 points behind the Clippers' Arnie Duggan. Zuback, in third place, has scored 12 goals and helped out on 11, while the fourth-place Shamlock has 21 points from six goals and 15 assists.

Navy, which gained its only point in nine games from a 3-3 tie with Nanaimo, will tangle with Merchants in the opening game tonight, starting at 7.30.

Sayward Doe Season Proves Interesting

BY DOUG PEDEN

Results of the three-day season on doe deer in the Sayward Forest area at Campbell River last week end were certainly interesting, if not downright startling.

Reports compiled by game department officials and biologists, who checked hunters coming out of the area, must be quite a blow to those who have steadfastly belittled anything but a rigid buck law and no doubt pleasing to the increasing number advocating the harvesting of both sexes.

Here was an area which to the average sportsman appeared [illegible] and four-year-old does weighing little more than 50 pounds, hardly more than half their normal weight.

To those who moaned that the kill of does would be excessive, a few figures should prove interesting. Checked at either the Campbell River Bridge or on the road coming out of the area across the dam were 1,394 hunters who had bagged a total of 399 deer on Saturday and Sunday, an average of one deer per 3.74 hunters, far under the take predicted by biologists.

But even more interesting is the fact that the ratio of does to bucks was less than two to one. Of the deer checked, 258 were does and 141 were bucks.

It would be a mistake to glance at the initial reports and jump to the conclusion that open seasons on both bucks and does should be allowed throughout Vancouver Island even though the system has proved beneficial in many parts of the United States.

Although many animals taken at Sayward were poorly nourished, others were normal, healthy animals, depending on what section they were taken. This tends to bear out the contention that deer are loathe to roam in search of better food conditions.

Each section has its own problems and only extensive study and an accurate count of animals can produce the right solutions. Not many areas are as overcrowded as the Sayward Forest. However, it appears that the findings there may make the game commission more willing to declare antlerless deer seasons in the future, if its biologists advise.

Final reports on the Sayward experiment will not be known until departmental biologists, including Dr. James Hatter and Don Robinson, have analyzed the data collected.

At present it appears that the game department will agree to harvesting of both sexes where overcrowding is proven and retain the buck law where browse is in abundance. The food supply is the key factor.

* * *

An interested observer at Sayward was Garner Jones, game biologist for the state of Washington, who is considered one of the foremost authorities on blacktail deer. Washington, which had its second either-sex deer season in 1953, had a hunting area approximately one-fifth that of B.C. Last year approximately 50,000 deer were bagged and this season the take is expected to exceed 60,000.

This week end will see the start of Christmas shoots among the local gun clubs. The South Vancouver Island Rangers have invited the public to join in their prize shoot at the Rangers' grounds at Luxton on Sunday. There will be large-bore, pistol and trap events on the program. Refreshments will be available at the Ranger barbecue.

Also next Sunday will be the annual Christmas shoot of the North Saanich Rod and Gun Club at its Beacon Avenue grounds at Sidney. Victoria Gun Club will stage its annual shoot on December 13.

Victoria Fish and Game Club will hold a worthwhile benefit dance at its Goldstream clubhouse on December 12. Proceeds will go to aid members Vic Giles and Ed Wadsworth, both recent polo victims. Tickets are available from Fred Hughes at 629 Courtney Street.

In answer to a query: A cougar shot by Teddy Roosevelt in Colorado in 1901 holds the official North American record. The big cat dressed out at 227 pounds and measured 96 inches in length. There is an unofficial listing of one taken in Arizona in 1917, measuring 105 inches from tip to tip and weighing 276 pounds with intestines removed. The 88-inch cougar shot at Beecher Bay by Mrs. Joan Yates on October 24 of this year may have had the largest skull measurements on record in B.C. with a length of 9¾ inches and width of 6⅛ inches.

NINO VALDES

Cuban Heavy Top Contender

NEW YORK (AP)—Nino Valdes, the lanky Cuban who holds the Central American and Cuban heavyweight crown, has taken over the No. 1 position among heavyweight contenders in Ring Magazine's world ratings.

Valdes, first foreign heavyweight in years to become No. 1 contender, proved his right to a shot at Rocky Marciano's title recently by knocking out [illegible] Heinz Neuhaus in Dortmund, Germany.

The rise of Valdes to the post previously occupied by Roland La Starza is the major change in the ratings released today by editor Nat Fleischer. Neuhaus has been dropped from fifth to seventh place and Earl Walls of Windsor, Ont., and Edmonton, Canada's top heavyweight, has advanced from seventh to fifth.

La Starza dropped to second spot. Ezzard Charles is third.

Howe Holds Point Lead—Reibel, Kelly Both Gain

Gordie Howe, seeking his fourth successive NHL scoring title, maintained his four-point lead over linemate Ted Lindsay in week end games while rookie Earl Reibel, who centres for the two wingers, moved into a third-place tie with Montreal's Bernie Geoffrion.

Although the Wings picked up a total of 44 scoring points in their 9-0 and 9-4 routs over Chicago, Howe did no better than two goals and an assist, while Lindsay was credited with three assists. Reibel had two goals and two assists. Howe has 29 points for 22 games, a pace which gives him a chance to break the NHL record of 95 he set last season.

Biggest gainer of all was Detroit defenseman Red Kelly, who had three goals and five assists, boosting his total to 19 points, good enough for a fifth-place tie with Ed Sandford and Tod Sloan.

NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland Browns Sunday clinched the Eastern Division championship of the National Football League. Philadelphia's second-place Steelers were eliminated when they dropped an upset 37-28 decision to New York Giants.

In the Western Division, Chicago's improving Bears practically eliminated Los Angeles Rams with a 24-21 victory which left the Rams two games out of the lead with only two to play. San Francisco's '49ers retained their hopes of overtaking Detroit Lions, who walloped Green Bay Thursday by outscoring Baltimore, 38-21.

Golf--- Here's How

BY SAM SNEAD

Today we picture a player swinging in excellent form, with one exception. Get it? Our player's weight is well divided between his feet, though most of the weight is on the right, as it should be. He is maintaining firm left foot grip on the ground with the weight on the inside of the ball of the foot. His hip pivot is nearly horizontal, as it should be, and he is levering against his straight right leg. His shoulder pivot is in a more perpendicular plane instead of the horizontal, his left arm is straight, he has held his head position fixed, no sidewise or up or down sway.

This golfer knows how to swing a golf club. Now to the flaw. His wrists are too fully cocked for this stage of the backswing. If the wrists are cocked too soon in the backswing, as pictured, it is extremely difficult to avoid starting the uncocking action too high up the downswing.

Remember When:

Lou Salica of New York, world bantamweight boxing champion, scored a bruising victory over the Philippine challenger Small Montana at Toronto 12 years ago today. Salica floored Montana nine times before he was awarded victory on a technical knockout in the third round. A year later Salica surrendered the crown to Manuel Ortiz.

Alberta Oil Output

CALGARY (BUP)—Crude oil production in Alberta for the week ending Nov. 23 showed a drop of 11,896 barrels per day over the previous week but an increase over the amount a year ago.

Production for the seven-day period was 257,022 barrels daily from 4,415 wells capable of being operated. The figure was 58,587 barrels daily more than the same period in 1952, when 3,538 wells produced a daily average of 198,435 barrels.

Doctors Draw on New Bone Bank For Materials in Delicate Surgery

Doctors performing delicate operations have drawn on the new bone bank at Royal Jubilee Hospital at least twice since the refrigeration unit was instituted a month ago.

Bone from the bank was used as a graft to reinforce a weak spine on one occasion. On another, a weak spot in a bone caused by a cyst was strengthened by application of a section of bone from the bank.

Present contents of the bank result mainly from a leg amputation found necessary a few weeks ago. The bone was tested, found healthy and suitable for use in grafting. It was cut into sections, bottled and placed in the deep-freeze unit. Operations calling for removal of ribs to allow surgeons to reach inner organs are the main source of supply.

Before institution of the bank it was necessary in many cases where grafts were required for doctors to cut sections of bone from the patients involved.

In charge of the bone bank is Dr. A. ". Trottier. The deep freeze unit was presented by the junior auxiliary to the hospital.

CAPETOWN, (CP) — About 15,000 Netherlanders have emigrated to South Africa since the war and more are coming out at the rate of about 4,000 a year, said B. W. Haveman, Holland's commissioner for emigration, visiting here. He said emigrants he had met were well satisfied with life in South Africa.

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — Twenty of the passengers on the liner Wanganella from Australia arrived here with nothing to declare to customs. All their baggage had been accidentally left behind in a railway carriage in Australia.

Labatt Offer Taken

WINNIPEG (CP)—John Labatt Limited Monday took over a controlling interest in Shea's Winnipeg Brewery Limited by formally taking up nearly 212,000 class A and B shares under terms of an offer made earlier this month.

The company announced that up to noon CST, it had taken up 29,750 of the outstanding 44,150 class A shares and 181,745 of the outstanding 232,925 class B shares.

The shares included 33,000 each from Winnipeg General and Misericordia hospitals which they received under the will of the late Mrs. Frank Shea.

Mixed Close After Stocks Open Higher

TORONTO (CP)—Prices closed mixed after a slower session.

Industrials made the biggest gain followed by western oils and base metals. Golds were a little lower. Uraniums were down.

Banks, steels, papers, foods and refining oils were the basis of industrials' strength with most price changes small.

Western oils closed slightly higher than Monday's level. Great Plains closed 50 cents higher, replacing Canadian Collieries, up 35 cents, as the leader. Husky was also strong.

Base metals also contradicted the index figures with a small gain. A few losses appeared among seniors. Juniors were slightly higher.

Golds showed a nominal gain with weak holding companies, quiet seniors and slightly stronger juniors.

Uraniums were lower at the close as the penny gains of forenoon trading were replaced by a wide list of small losses in the afternoon.

Industrials Higher

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices closed on a higher note during slow trading.

Miscellaneous industrials, beverages, papers, utilities, senior metals, senior oils, steels and banks were higher. Carriers were mixed.

Trading in mines was light, with prices mixed in a penny range. Ameranium, Boreal, Celta and McIntyre were better while Anacon, Inspiration and Kontiki were off.

Western oils were higher at the close with Bailey Selburn 10 cents and Merrill Petroleums five.

Capital Estates Up

VANCOUVER—Canadian Collieries traded heavily and closed at $5.00 after touching a top of 5.20.

Among industrials Capital Estates jumped over a dollar to $25⅛, and Powell River rallied 50 cents to $25. MacMillan was lower at $18, but B.C. Power was higher at the same price.

Oils showed a tendency to move higher with Pacific, Canadian Atlantic, Federated and Yankee Princess all on the upgrade.

Silver Standard closed higher at 82 cents.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters)—Business was at low ebb with the settlement in progress tending to restrict active interest. Movements in practically all instances were narrow.

Government securities were harder while first-grade industrials inclined slightly upwards.

Tobaccos and textiles showed selective gains but engineering groups as a whole were on the dull side.

Mines were quiet but among the South African gold shares there was some modest interest in uranium issues. Coppers and diamonds were better.

Closing prices: Babcock & Wilcox 47s 3d, Boots Pure Drug 31s 4½d, Canadian Pacific 142½, Central Mining £1 1/16, Courtaulds 45s, Hudson's Bay Co. 92s 9d, Imperial Chemical 50s, Imperial Tobacco 57s 10½d, Metal Box 63s 4½d, Mexican Eagle 22s 4½d, Rand Mines 49s 3d.

Bonds: British 2½s Consols £64 11/16 (xd), British 3½s War Loans £85 7/16, British Fundings 4s 1960-1990 £101¼.

Soviet Sale of Gold May Be Aimed at West

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Over the past week end, $15,000,000 worth of gold ingots stamped with the hammer and sickle hallmark of Soviet Russia have been flown from Prague to London.

Earlier, European bullion dealers had noted sharp selling of Soviet gold on the free market. This was sufficiently large to bring the price for free gold to within a fraction of the fixed price of $35 an ounce in U.S. currency.

Some mystery attaches to the Soviet dealings, although ostensibly the gold is being used to buy the sterling the Soviet requires for its purchases of butter and other commodities from Commonwealth countries.

However, this explanation does not satisfy everyone. Nobody knows how much gold the USSR has in its vaults, although the store is believed to be one of the world's largest.

If this is true, it might be an attempt by the Soviets to break the basic price of gold, if not to destroy it as a standard of wealth.

The action of the Soviet has had the effect of throwing the Canadian gold industry into a more difficult plight than ever, because there is now little advantage to be obtained from free gold trading, to which a number of Canadian companies resorted.

PROMISING OIL WELL

What may turn out to be an important oil discovery has been made in the Buck Lake area of Alberta, some 24 miles west of the rich Bonnie Glen, Pigeon Lake, Wizard Lake area.

The well, known as Canadian Delhi-Great Plains Minnehik, is the first in the area to have given an oil showing, although an earlier well at Buck Lake is reckoned a gas producer.

Canadian Delhi was also associated with Britalta when it discovered oil further south in the Winchell Coulee area.

The strike created some interest in the dull oil market, with Great Plains stock shooting ahead to 6.70, up 50 cents on the day, and up more than $2 over the past month.

Mid-Western Gets Big Gas Well

EDMONTON (CP)—Believed the biggest natural gas well ever drilled in northern Alberta, a venture of Mid-Western Industrial Gas Ltd., in the Fort Saskatchewan area was reported to have an open flow potential of 102,000,000 cubic feet daily.

The well has been capped and will eventually be tied in with Mid-Western's gathering system now delivering gas to the Sherritt-Gordon nickel refinery at Fort Saskatchewan.

The discovery is not the largest gas well in Alberta. A number of wells in the big Pincher Creek field have recorded open flows of up to 150,000,000 cubic feet daily.

Railroads Rally

NEW YORK—Railroad shares strengthened late in the session and set new highs since Aug. 26.

Their strength sent other sections higher after early irregularity. Trading quickened.

Early declines in various sessions reflected profit-taking after a substantial rise. When that realizing failed to bring a broad decline, new buying developed and prices rose easily in the last hour.

Island Birds Win

Local poultrymen made a fine showing in the winter poultry show in Vancouver November 28 to 30.

A Partridge Rock owned by J. L. Lang, 3976 Braefoot Road, was judged champion cock bird of the entire show. His Partridge Rocks also took first prize in the male and female pair class. Mr. Lang won another award with a pair of Buff Wyandottes.

Bert Pritchett, 3172 Qu'Appelle Street, received major awards in the show with White Cochin Bantams and fantail pigeons.

F. Staverman, Langford, was a winner with Rhode Island Reds.

B. Houle, Oldfield Road, made a good showing with light-brown Leghorns and Black Rose Comb Bantams.

John Arnaud of Keating, with six racing homing pigeons in the show, won two firsts, two seconds and two thirds.

[illegible] exhibits in this year's show had decreased from last year, but the quality of entries was exceptionally good.

Island Folk Lore in Schools Urged

Vancouver Island folk lore should have a place in the history books of present day B.C. school students, B. A. McKelvie, B.C. historian and writer, told the Victoria Kiwanis Club yesterday.

Mr. McKelvie was recounting some of the interesting exploits of early explorers and settlers on the Island.

"This is a glamorous and exciting story that would be far better reading for our children than crime comic books," he said.

[illegible] claim that Vancouver Island should have a reputation of its own.

"I recently got into trouble for decrying the 'little bit of old England' boast, saying that we should build a tradition of our own and not call on England for one," he said.

"I still think so, but that is another story."

He told the story of the Spanish explorer Don Pedro Alberni who won back the support of the Nootka Indians by writing a song praising the chief.

A former Spanish explorer had murdered one of the Island chiefs, and when Alberni arrived to help open the country, he found the Indians unwilling to co-operate.

"This country was won by a song, rather than by a sword. That is a story worth telling and reading, but few people know it," he said.

He also told the story of W. E. Banfield, after who Banfield Creek was named.

"So little attention is paid to our history, they have even named the creek wrongly calling it Bamfield."

Banfield was the first preemptor at Alberni, and the man who kept relations between the first white settlers and Indians on a livable plane, he said.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)

Grab-bag gaiety. [illegible] choosing their own toys.

A tip-top appetite. You'll love the way baby's appetite grows when you give him good tasting foods he likes and needs. Like Gerber's Strained Fruits, Vegetables, Meat Soups and Desserts. [illegible] Cereals are pre-cooked, ready to serve.

Very often babies at the six or seven month stage [illegible] Parents [illegible] might profitably [illegible] sleep by remembering these pointers:

1. Soft lullabies (on or off key) are relaxing, do encourage sleep.
2. A well-satisfied tummy does much to help close little eyes.
3. Non-restricting sleeping garments are a must. Excitement is taboo.
4. [illegible] a favorite soft toy often works magic.

Share and share alike. If you've any pet sound [illegible] to share with other mothers, send them to me: Box 17, Toronto 18, Canada.

Dessert delights [illegible] to please a toddler's palate. Gerber's [illegible] fruits and puddings are so [illegible] with their delicate flavors. Nice variety for baby too: choice of Apricot Applesauce, Applesauce, Peaches, Pears, Pear Pineapple fruit desserts and Plums with Tapioca, Chocolate, and Pineapple puddings. Try them! Junior's bound to clamor for more.

COMPETENT BOOKKEEPER REQUIRES position ... Box 181 Victoria Press.

EXPERIENCED STENO-BOOKKEEPER ...

[illegible]

... garden today ... paleolithic man ... more than an unexpected jab in the foot or a prick in a finger. For when safety pins, buttons, snaps or zippers were still unheard of, he used the simple thorn to fasten his tunic and clasp his animal skin cape. Thus he discovered the first pin ... [illegible]

It took a New England Yankee, however, to make a pin-making machine. The first pin factory was set up in Derby, Conn., in 1838. To this day the Nutmeg State has continued its lead in the field. Of the eight companies which make almost all the pins in the United States, five are located in Connecticut. The others are in Chicago, New York and Philadelphia.

The 1,500 people employed as pinmakers can make 21 different kinds of pins: the bank, dressmaker, giant-headed, silk, ribbon, pleating, furrier and so forth. But to the amateur in the field they all look like plain straight pins.

Unlike fur coats, refrigerators, TV sets and hundreds of other items, pin sales just don't respond to a fast-talking, glittering advertising campaign. The housewife, it seems, goes out to buy a box of pins only when she needs one. But even ... the market sells a ... pounds of pins every year.

Thanks: Michael Coviello, Derby, Conn.

Saanich To Buy Government Bonds

Saanich council Monday night authorized purchase of $100,000 worth of 2-per-cent Dominion of Canada Bonds due December, 1954, from A. E. Ames and Co. Ltd. at 99.05.

Councillors also ordered all unexpended amounts of parks appropriations set aside for next year's work.

Fire Chief Joseph Law was instructed to cooperate with other departments in training of auxiliary firemen.

The men will be trained by officers volunteering from the Saanich department. Oak Bay as yet is the only other municipality to begin recruiting for such training.

Threat of legal action against the municipality for damages as the result of an overflowing ditch was expressed by Mr. and Mrs. William A. Blackstock, 3661 Savannah Avenue.

"This is our final letter," they said in announcing intention to sue.

Engineer H. D. Dawson told council the ditch is 12 to 18 inches deep past their property and that the trouble is from a number of wooden culverts being too small. People were told of the trouble some time ago, he said.

Council will find information on the age, condition and original purchaser of the culverts in question.

England gave us a secret

Some 100 years ago the bartender of Pimm's Restaurant of London invented a tall drink which he called Pimm's Cup. To this day, the formula for this delectable, taste-tempting gin drink is still a secret. Try it—it's the coolest, brightest, most refreshing long-iced drink you ever tasted!

Here's a simple way to enjoy Pimm's No. 1 Cup. Take 2 ozs. of Pimm's No. 1 Cup; charge with lemon soda or gingerale; add a slice of lemon, a thin slice of cucumber rind (if available) and serve well iced.

Cemetery Land Purchase Authorized by Saanich

Permission to purchase 4.47 acres of land for $2,000 was given Greater Victoria Board of Cemetery Trustees by Saanich council Monday night.

The purchase is subject to approval for rezoning the land, adjacent to Royal Oak Burial Park and to be used as cemetery property.

Reeve Joseph Casey reported the present cemetery would be filled in 15 years.

PERMISSION SOUGHT

Councillor Roy Wootten asked that permission of the adjoining property owner be sought before approval of the purchase. Clr. L. H. Passmore added that the plots would be shielded by a line of trees 300 feet back from East Saanich Road.

Condition of Epsom Drive will be improved immediately pending final decision on disposition of a local improvement by-law for "more costly work," council decided.

A delegation of Epsom Drive residents noted estimates for the by-law work were "too high" and would inflict injustice on 10 pensioners involved."

PASSAGE WITHHELD

All persons who requested the [illegible] two years ago, have been circulated by council to find whether they object to the work. An original protest by the residents concerned resulted in final passage of the by-law being withheld.

It had been planned by by-law for oil penetration and a seal coat on the road.

School Crosswalk Planned At Carey Road Intersection

A school crosswalk will be marked at Carey Road and McKenzie Avenue, Saanich council has decided.

Councillors received the request from McKenzie Avenue Parent-Teacher Association along with that for sidewalk construction on Carey Road. The latter was included in a regular walks program to be done as soon as possible, the association will be advised.

Letters of thanks will be sent persons who contributed to a Halloween party held at No. 3 fire station.

Largest donation was $200 worth of firecrackers.

Firm Drops Proceedings Against B.C. Officials

VANCOUVER (CP)—Attachment proceedings against Premier Bennett, Finance Minister Einar Gunderson and Bernard Allen were abandoned yesterday in the B.C. Supreme Court.

The three are directors of the government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway Company.

The action was started by the White Lumber Ltd., which operates a sawmill at Stoner Creek, 23 miles south of Prince George.

John S. Burton, company council, asked Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane to award costs against the PGE.

The lumber firm had obtained an injunction directing the railway company to move cars of lumber from the mill. When this proved ineffective, Mr. Burton applied to cite the three PGE directors in attachment proceedings for contempt of court in not obeying the order.

The court was told yesterday that Mr. Gunderson had no knowledge of the injunction until last Thursday, when he called a directors' meeting and orders were given to move the cars of lumber.

The RCMP is providing escorts for the trains, which had to pass through IWA picket lines.

Mr. Justice MacFarlane indicated that he did not think the PGE should pay costs because the directors had no knowledge of the injunction until Thursday, when they took prompt action to move the cars.

Tourist Promotion Major Aim

Upper-Island Brochure To Be Issued

NANAIMO—A combined brochure, covering northern Vancouver Island and Nanaimo, will be issued by Central and Upper Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau, F. C. Kent executive secretary of Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce, will direct the job.

The organization includes Alberni, Campbell River, Courtenay-Comox, Lantzville, Nanaimo, Parksville and Port Alberni.

Starting in January, Mr. Kent will delvier lectures in the various municipalities on the promotion of travel and tourism. He will point out potential business to be tapped by close co-operation with travel agents in the United States and Canada.

"Now that we practically live on wheels, there is hardly a city, town or village which is not tourist-conscious," he said.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - By Howard Garis

WOOZIE WOLF

Uncle Wiggily, with his camera "gun" was hopping slowly through the woods far away from his hollow stump bungalow. The rabbit gentleman was going to take some pictures, or "shots," of the bad chaps to show to his friends.

Many times the rabbit gentleman had told his friends, Pat Butter the goat and Mr. Bow Wow the dog, about being chased by the woozie wolf, the fuzzy fox or the skillery-scallery alligator with the double-jointed tail. And often when he told those stories, Mr. Butter of Mr. Bow Wow, would laugh and say:

"That's a good story, Wiggy, but can you prove it?"

"Prove it? What do you mean?" Uncle Wiggily would ask.

"Why don't you show us a picture of one of the bad chaps? Then we would believe your story," bleated Mr. Butter.

So Mr. Longears bought himself a camera at the 15 and 16 cents store and now he was out in the woods trying to get a shot, or picture, of one of the bad chaps.

"When I show Pat Butter or Mr. Bow Wow a picture, then they will really believe there are bad chaps that chase me," said Uncle Wiggily to himself as he hopped along.

He hopped uphill and he hopped downhill. Then he hopped across a field and he was in some deep, dark and rather dismal woods.

"This ought to be a good place to get a picture of fuzzy fox or woozie wolf," said the rabbit gentleman to himself. "But if I want to get a picture of the skillery-scallery alligator and his double-jointed tail, I must go to the swamp, for that is where he lives."

Uncle Wiggily hopped along a little farther and, all of a sudden, he heard a noise in the bushes.

"Maybe that's woozie wolf or fuzzy fox now," thought the rabbit uncle. "I must get my camera gun ready to shoot." He hopped back of a big tree to look at his camera and make sure it was all ready. Then he looked toward where he had heard the noise. He saw a little animal with stripes on its furry back. Then Mr. Longears laughed.

"Hello, Jennie Chipmunk!" he called.

"Oh, hello, Uncle Wiggily!" chattered Jennie. "What are you doing here in the woods?"

"I am taking pictures with my camera," answered Mr. Longears.

"Oh, will you please take my picture?" asked Jennie who was something like a squirrel only not as large.

"Yes, I will take your picture," said Mr. Longears. "Scramble up on that stump and pretend to be eating a nut. That will make a fine picture."

"I don't have to pretend to eat a nut," chattered Jennie. "I have a hickory nut and I really can eat it."

"Then eat and I will shoot you," said the rabbit.

"Oh, I don't want to be shot!" exclaimed Jennie. She was going to run away. But Uncle Wiggily laughed and said:

"I call taking pictures making shots. Hold still now!" So Jennie sat very still on top of the stump, eating a hickory nut, and Uncle Wiggily snapped his camera gun at her.

"Now where is my picture?" Jennie wanted to know.

"Oh, I have to take the film out of the camera, develop the film and then print the picture," Uncle Wiggily explained. "I will have it ready for you in a few days."

"Thank you!" chattered Jennie. "I'll be waiting for my picture." She scrambled away to look for more nuts and Uncle Wiggily hopped on through the woods.

"That's funny!" he said. "I came out to shoot a picture of a bad chap, but the first picture I make is one of kind, gentle little Jennie Chipmunk. Oh, I suppose it's just as well. Maybe I'll see a bad chap in a little while."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped along and along and along and, all of a sudden, he heard another noise in the bushes. He looked and there, sitting on a stump was the woozie wolf. The wolf was doing something very funny. I will tell you about it tomorrow if the eye of the needle doesn't try to look through the keyhole of the door to see what the pins are doing.

Scott Loses Garbage Can Suit, Takes Verdict in Good Humor

The city has won a suit against W. A. Scott for payment of a bill for two garbage cans.

Magistrate H. C. Hall in small debts court yesterday ordered Mr. Scott to pay the $13 garbage-can bill plus $12 costs and witness fees.

Mr. Scott claimed he had ordered two cans last March and paid cash for them in June. He said the city later delivered two more cans to a house he owns. He says he did not order the second two cans. He produced a receipt for the first two.

The court ruled that a woman tenant at Mr. Scott's house received delivery of the second pair of garbage cans and therefore, as his "agent," accepted them. Mr. Scott said he had no knowledge of the second pair until after he had been summonsed.

A city official said later yesterday "the whole thing could have been settled easily if Mr. Scott had not refused to produce his receipt."

An aldermanic candidate in the civic elections, Mr. Scott filed his nomination papers after the court case yesterday. They had been held up by city officials until the garbage-can bill had been settled.

The Municipal Elections Act states that a candidate for municipal office must have no outstanding accounts in the municipality in which he is seeking office.

Mr. Scott said he was exonerating all the city officials from blame in his case because, he says, they admitted the city was at fault.

"All I can do now, I suppose, is rely on my sense of humor to accept the court's verdict," he said.

Part in Accident Wrongly Given

A story in the Colonist yesterday morning had the name of Donald Calder, 665 Lampson, as one of the injured in a traffic accident Saturday night at the intersection of Fort and Elford.

Mr. Calder's only association with the accident was as an ambulance driver for the Royal Canadian Navy, and not as one of the four injured persons in the car.

'Ridiculous,' 'Nonsense'

Opposition Jeers At Collusion Charge

Liberal and CCF spokesmen heatedly denied Tuesday that their parties had ganged up to beat Finance Minister Einar Gunderson in last week's by-election.

A resolution passed by the board of directors of the Social Credit League last week-end charged collusion between the "political machines" of the Liberals and CCF was responsible for Mr. Gunderson's defeat.

"Ridiculous," replied Liberal leader Arthur Laing. "Only a six-year-old would talk such nonsense. . . . The people have a right to wonder if the Social Credit party believes in democracy at all. Why doesn't the government accept the voters' decision on Mr. Gunderson?"

Alfred Matthews, defeated CCF candidate, said the "collusion" charge was "typical Social Credit arrogance and ignorance."

Answering a "rumor" mentioned by Mr. Gunderson, that CCF leaders directed their followers to vote Liberal, Mr. Matthews said:

"It is sheer nonsense for anyone to assume that a party can, on a moment's notice, direct the votes of thousands of people.

"There was certainly no collusion," he said. "The premier's statement is a deliberate slap in the face to the CCF, our volunteers workers and the people who voted for me.

"If I thought the Socreds had the common decency they boast about, I'd ask for a public apology. But I won't."

Liberal George Gregory, who defeated Mr. Gunderson, said Social Credit was charging his party and the CCF with conspiracy.

"A conspiracy is a joining together to an improper or illegal purpose," he said. "Surely no one who believes in a democracy will accuse a voter of improper motives in voting either for the candidate he thought best or, when a government deserves a rebuke as richly as this one did, of forgetting political loyalty long enough to vote for the opposition candidate most likely to win."

Hotel Men To Meet Here

George Wheaton, president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, will address a dinner meeting of the B.C. Hotel Operators and Innkeepers Society here December 8.

The session will be the first annual meeting of the society, which was formed recently. About 50 delegates are expected to attend and discuss tourist catering.

E. G. Carlson, of Seattle, vice-president of the Western Hotels chain, will address the hotelmen, along with W. Ireland, provincial librarian.

Approximate distance from St. John's, Nfld., to Prince Rupert, B.C., is 4,343 miles.

Power To Resume

The Whatshan power plant will be back in partial operation within 10 days, according to the B.C. Power Commission.

The huge plant on Lower Arrow Lake was smashed by two mud and rock slides in August. Auxiliary generating units were hastily pressed into service to provide power for the area.

One of the two big Whatshan units should be operating again in a week or 10 days, but the second will still be out of service for some time. The single unit will be enough to replace the temporary generating services installed after the slides.

A probe into the cause of the disaster is still continuing. Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne, a one-man commission, began holding hearings in Vancouver again Tuesday, after a first-hand look at the smashed powerhouse.

Candidates Double Vacancies

December 12 could be two for one day in Esquimalt municipality.

Eight candidates have announced intentions of seeking four council seats. Six candidates are seeking three positions as councillors, and two are seeking the single post of reeve.

Sixth candidate as a councillor is Daniel F. Paine, of 454 Fraser Street, a 43-year-old carpenter and joiner. He is married and has eight children. He has been a resident of Esquimalt for eight years.

Mr. Paine's platform will be announced later.

CCF Ballot Was Better Than Cited

The Colonist has been requested by Ronald B. Worley, executive assistant to the premier, to correct a typographical error which appeared in Tuesday's editions.

The error occurred in a report of a Social Credit League directors' resolution, which noted that CCF support in Victoria had fallen from 3,923 votes in the June general election to 2,495 in last week's by-election.

The first figure, Mr. Worley said, should have been 4,923.

Actually, 4,923 was the vote piled up by one of three CCF candidates in June. The other two received 4,881 and 5,267 votes. The average for the three candidates was 5,024.

$100 Counterfeit Bills Printed To Sell at $112

Dental caries is due to action of bacteria forming particles of food lodged in the teeth.

Error Shifts Headquarters

Owing to a typographical error Tuesday morning, a Colonist story said Ald. Percy Scurrah's mayoralty campaign headquarters were on Yates Street.

Alderman Scurrah's headquarters are on Johnson east of Douglas, and candidate Ald. Waldo Skilling's headquarters are in an unused taxi stand near the Dominion Hotel.

Clothing, Toys Sought For Strikers' Families

A province-wide appeal for clothing and toys was launched yesterday by the International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL).

The union drive is to help meet the needs of striking Interior workers and their families for winter clothing.

All IWA locals throughout the province are acting as collection centres. In Victoria, local arrangements were announced for donations of clothing to be picked up at mills and other operations during the next week.

The office at 715 Johnson Street will also be a collecting agency, it was reported.

Northern and southern Interior districts have been on strike since late September and October, respectively, in support of wage demands and other benefits. Basic rate now is $1.20 an hour.

Southern operators and woodworkers are holding meetings this week in an effort to settle the strike.

The union is attempting to gain Coast area rates, $1.52 a day more than Interior rates.

The strike action reached into Vancouver Monday night, with Canadian Press reporting the arrest of Robert A. Ewart, 39, on a charge of trespassing. He was one of a number of IWA members on picket lines around the CNR and CPR depots in an effort to keep workers from accepting employment in the strike-bound Interior. It was alleged Ewart walked on CNR property.

CELEBRATE with JELL-O

A Treat to Look at!

Pure Pleasure to Eat!

JELL-O BRAND SEVEN DELICIOUS FLAVORS

GRAPEFRUIT AND CHERRY MOULD

1 pkg. Cherry Jell-O (or any red flavor)
1 cup hot water
¾ cup cold water
¼ cup canned grapefruit juice
½ cup drained, canned grapefruit segments
½ cup drained, sweetened, pitted cherries

Dissolve Jell-O in HOT water. Add cold water, and grapefruit juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Then fold in grapefruit and cherries. Turn into mould. Chill until firm. Unmould and garnish — very attractive with Frosted Green Grapes.

Frosted Green Grapes: Brush grapes well with egg white which has been beaten until slightly frothy. Sift fine granulated sugar over grapes. Store in refrigerator until dry.

JELL-O

THE BEST IDEA ANY TIME!

You're sure to agree, when Jell-O is so thrifty to serve — and when all seven delicious "locked-in" flavors are so good to eat. And Jell-O combines so well with so many foods.

Take the Grapefruit and Cherry Mould above. Such a simple recipe . . . allowing lots of scope for your own variations.

With or without fruits, you'll make wonderfully appetizing Jell-O dishes. Another delightful idea is to combine two or three flavors of cubed Jell-O. Chill Jell-O in shallow pans, cut into cubes, spoon layers of each flavor into sherbet glasses. A dab of whipped cream and a maraschino cherry makes it all the more exciting!

Does your family ask for some favorite over and over again? Bananas perhaps, or pineapple, pears? All of these mix wonderfully with Cherry Jell-O. And when you use canned fruits, the fruit syrup can be part of the liquid used. Just be sure to use a total of 2 cups of liquid.

Whether you are adding one fruit, or a mixture of two or three together, you'll need at least 1 cup for a good looking mould. And remember, if you want the fruit evenly suspended in the mould, chill the Jell-O until slightly thickened, before mixing in the chosen fruits.

Jell-O is a registered trade mark owned in Canada by General Foods, Limited J-154

COMPULSION BACK IN HOSPITAL PLAN

Hit-Run Raid on Red Centre in Indo-China

A major victory was scored by French union forces in a raid on Communist installations in the important centre of Nho-Quan in Northern Indo-China. French troops occupied the town temporarily, destroyed major installations and stores and then withdrew. This scene during the raid shows fire bombs being dropped from low level. The tank at left foreground was brought up to assist in withdrawal of the paratroopers who blazed a trail for the attacking force. — (Central Press Canadian.)

West Coast Protests As Lifelines Slashed

A storm of protest has followed reduction of the boat service and cancellation of scheduled flights to West Coast ports. The West Coast CPR service has been reduced to three trips a month effective Monday. At the same time scheduled flights to the West Coast have been suspended after a wrangle between Coastal Air Services Ltd. and the Air Transport Board.

In Port Alberni John Squire, M.L.A. said, "Cutting of the Princess of Alberni schedule from weekly to three trips monthly emphasizes the fact that the West Coast is getting far too little attention from the department of transport."

He criticized the Air Transport Board for "juggling" a public hearing which was scheduled for November 23 but later indefinitely postponed. The hearing was to have been on the Pacific Western Air Lines application to operate a daily West Coast service.

Speaking also as acting president of Local 1-85 IWA, Mr. Squire declared that the daily air service could be invaluable in promoting Port Alberni as a hiring centre for West Coast logging and sawmill operations.

All Port Alberni organizations should support the Pacific Western Airlines' attempt to re-establish the schedule under a license from the department of transport, Mr. Squire said.

He expressed deep disappointment in the action of the CPR in reducing schedules, and said he would get in touch with T. S. Barnett, MP for Comox-Alberni, in Ottawa in an effort to improve the situation.

Russ Baker, president of Pacific Western Airlines, said in Vancouver yesterday that the Air Transport Board had used "police state" tactics in its investigation at Port Alberni of Coastal Air Services, a booking agency for his airline.

He charged that inspector Leslie Knight of the Air Transport Board had "walked off" with books of Coastal Air Services in Port Alberni and interviewed witnesses, clients of Coastal Air Services, under oath in the presence of a police escort.

An injunction was served on Inspector Knight late Monday in Nanaimo. It restrains him from further inquiry and submission of evidence already taken to the board in Ottawa.

"The injunction was too late if it was meant to prevent this investigation," Mr. Knight said.

He said he had obtained the books voluntarily and returned them that way, and that he had obtained all the information he sought and sent a report to Ottawa.

William Russell, president of Port Alberni and District Chamber of Commerce, added his voice to the protests and said he was "far from pleased at the announcement concerning the Princess of Alberni."

The Chamber recently went on record as supporting the Pacific Western Airlines application for a charter to points on the West Coast as far north as Chamiss Bay, about five air miles northeast of Kyuquot.

The inadequacy of the new thrice-monthly CPR schedule highlights the urgency for access roads to the West Coast, according to Fred Hawes, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

Even if the service of the Princess of Alberni were more frequent, the ship is not large enough to do an adequate job, Mr. Hawes said.

About 100 cars in the Ucluelet and Tofino area are stranded there at present, since the Alberni does not carry cars. No vehicles can be taken into the area.

Kyuquot residents are reported to be seriously worried that the CPR will soon cut its service to Chamiss Bay entirely, the run terminating at Zeballos, 35 miles from Kyuquot.

The new reduction of boat service to the area means that Kyuquot residents writing to Vancouver, only 150 air miles away, will not receive answering mail for three weeks to a month.

Christmas mail for the Kyuquot area will have to be posted before December 11.

Lumber Dispute Locked

PENTICTON (CP)—Negotiations for settlement of the southern Interior B.C. lumber dispute were deadlocked again Tuesday when meetings between union and employer representatives broke up here.

Spokesmen for the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association made what they termed a "final offer" of a three-year contract, three-cent-an-hour wage increase effective January 1 and provision for reopening the wage clause every Sept. 1.

The International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) is asking an 18-cents-an-hour wage increase over the present rate of $1.29 a cents an hour.

About 3,000 I.W.A. unionists have been on strike since October.

Churchill Flying West

LONDON (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill, with the cheers of leaders of all parties still ringing in his ears, set off across the Atlantic Tuesday night on his way to the Bermuda conference.

The prime minister and his 28-man diplomatic team took off in the stratocruiser Canopus, at 11:37 p.m. (3:37 p.m., PST), for Bermuda, where he will begin his meetings with President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel Friday.

An hour before, in the House of Commons, Conservative, Labor and Liberal MPs alike rose to their feet to cheer a "bon voyage" to their leader.

Puffing on a cigar, Churchill walked to his limousine amid cheering from a crowd waiting outside to wish him good luck.

The Canopus is due at Gander, Nfld., for refueling at 1:45 a.m., PST, today, and should reach Bermuda at 7:15 a.m.

Foreign Secretary Eden and Lord Cherwell, Churchill's atomic adviser, accompanied him on the trip.

At Bermuda a raging tropical storm which brought the heaviest rainfall in the island's history, struck Tuesday on the eve of the Big Three conference.

The weather is expected to clear today.

British tommy-gunners Tuesday night sealed off Bermuda's Mid-Ocean Club, the swank tourist hotel where the three leaders will conduct their talks.

A force of 240 infantrymen of the Royal Welch Fusiliers isolated the conference quarters from outsiders. Hundreds of Bermuda's militia were mobilized to man checkpoints blocking approaches to the hotel. Local constabulary, customs and security officers made an island-wide check for firearms.

This was part of an elaborate operation designed to insure that hoodlums, spies or unfriendly persons do not pierce the security screen around the three world leaders.

North's Horses Use Snowshoes

VANCOUVER (CP)—Some horses have been taught to use snowshoes on northern British Columbia winter trails and Morley Shier has produced snapshots of horses so equipped to convince doubters.

Mr. Shier said he first saw a horse on snowshoes in 1919 when he was hiking from Stewart, B.C., to Premier mine.

Later he saw several pack trains of horses with snowshoes and was given one of the shoes by J. Crawford, Stewart merchant.

Mr. Shier said at one time round boards, solid on the horses' feet, were used, but later these were changed to iron. "Now horses' snowshoes are made of three-quarter inch iron pipe, 12 inches in diameter, with chains to the centre and clips for the toe and side. They work on the same principle as men's snowshoes.

At first a horse is troubled, but soon learns the trick of putting one shoe over the other in walking on snow. When a shoe gets loose, the horse will stop, look back, and wait for an adjustment.

Delinquents To Be Prosecuted Unless Ruled Too Poor To Pay

BY T. A. MYERS
Colonist Staff Reporter

B.C.'s hospital insurance scheme is compulsory again, under a new policy announced Tuesday by Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin.

All British Columbians who can afford to pay their hospital insurance premiums will be compelled to do so by prosecution if necessary.

Those who haven't the money will be exempt from premium payment, but will be responsible for their own hospital bills.

The new policy represents an about-face for the government, which campaigned vigorously on a voluntary-insurance plank last year. Under Social Credit, BCHIS has been compulsory for those on payrolls, voluntary for all others.

Mr. Martin described the new policy as the government's fifth step in its reorganization of BCHIS. The last major step was taken last June, when Mr. Martin suspended all premium arrears. This step brought 10,000 delinquents back into BCHIS.

"It is now possible and equitable to require that all persons who are able pay their premiums," Mr. Martin said. "This government will therefore ensure that premium payment by individuals and company participation on payroll deduction will be forthcoming in all instances."

This would mean prosecution of deliberate premium-dodgers—those who could afford to pay but wouldn't. There have been no prosecutions for two years.

INVESTIGATION SET

The next hospital premium is due December 31. Those who do not pay by then will be billed again in January. If they still do not pay, their financial circumstances will be investigated.

Mr. Martin, with the advice of BCHIS and welfare department field workers, will decide whether or not each individual can afford to pay his premium.

There will be not pat formula for making these decisions, he said. Each case will be judged on its own merits.

Those whom Mr. Martin considers able to pay will face prosecution. Fines for non-payment run from $5 to $25, plus the amount of current premiums. Prosecutions may start about February.

Those who are considered unable to pay because of economic circumstances will not be prosecuted.

STILL RESPONSIBLE

However, there will be no blanket insurance coverage for these low-income groups. Those who are not already covered through some form of government assistance will still be legally responsible for any hospital bills they may incur.

If a person who has been excused payment of premium needs hospital care, he will get it no indigent can be refused treatment under B.C. law. But once he is discharged, the hospital may try to collect from him for its services.

If the hospital decides the bill is uncollectable, it will be reimbursed at the end of the year by the Hospital Insurance Service.

Under this plan, said BCHIS Commissioner Lloyd Detwiller, low-income groups would be given insurance coverage "through the back door."

Mr. Martin and Mr. Detwiller both said it would be almost impossible to give direct BCHIS coverage to people unable to pay their premiums.

There will be no permanent exemptions. Those who are excused payment for the first half of 1954 will be billed again for the second half, also—with everyone else. If their economic circumstances have improved in the meantime, they will be required to pay the second premium.

Companies as well as individuals will feel the effect of the government's stiffened policy. Mr. Martin said only a few companies have refused to co-operate with the government in deducting premium payments from their employees, but in future these companies will be forced to comply with the law.

Victoria Pilot Missing

A Victoria jet pilot was listed as missing by the RCAF yesterday when his Sabre jet disappeared on a training flight near Chatham, N. B.

The pilot is PO John Alexander Menzies, 23. His address here was not released.

Authorities said the plane had enough fuel for an hour and 15 minutes flying. It did not return to its base late yesterday afternoon.

Community Chest To Split $152,500

The Red Feather's 17 member agencies will receive a total of $152,500 in 1954, it was decided last night by the board of directors of the Greater Victoria Community Chest.

Payments for the year will be made on an 11-month basis.

Money will be distributed in such a way that each agency will take 12 per cent cut from the amount individually asked for the coming year.

Chest agencies will be better off in 1954 than they have been in 1953 when they received 33⅓ per cent less than what they asked over a period of only 10 months and had to make drastic cuts in essential services.

The Chest's current collection campaign ended Monday with $180,186 of its $210,600 objective. Collections represented 85 per cent of the objective and some 16.5 per cent more than the amount raised last year.

R. B. Mathews, campaign president, said expenses of the campaign totaled $6,282, or only 3.5 per cent of the total collected.

Some $27,800 must be deducted from total collections as follows before the distribution is made to member agencies: 10 per cent reserve for uncollectable pledges, $5,000; pledge payments due after November 30, $1,000; transfer to cover 1953 apparent deficit, $3,562; provision for 1954 campaign expen-

Repairs Delay Sailing

Some minor last-minute repairs yesterday postponed scheduled sailing of racy schooner Black Dog and her four-man crew, but damage has been repaired and ship will leave before dawn today. Captain and owner of vessel, well-known along Victoria's waterfront is William Tellier, former lieutenant-commander in Royal Canadian Navy, shown at extreme left. His crew is, left to right, Dave Burt, first mate, from Alaska; John Rice, cook, from Portland, Oregon; and Jim Grainger, navigator, from Vancouver and Toronto.

Change Welcomed

Victoria hospital administrators Tuesday welcomed the government's decision to revert to a compulsory system of hospital insurance.

They felt the revised policy would bring more people under hospital insurance coverage and cut down on the number of non-insured patients admitted to their hospitals.

"We'll be better off if it's compulsory," said Sister Mary Angelus, Sister Superior at St. Joseph's Hospital. She said the new policy would make little difference to the hospital with respect to collection of bills.

"I'm happy with the change," said George Masters, administrator of Royal Jubilee Hospital. "If will cut down the number of non-insured patients."

Mr. Masters said about 10 per cent of the 10,000 patients admitted annually to Jubilee were not covered by BCHIS. Of these, he said, about half were able to pay their hospital bills. Of the others, he said, about half could not even pay their BCHIS premiums.

Mr. Martin said Tuesday admittances of non-insured patients throughout the province had been cut to a new low of 5.83 per cent. The figure for the Victoria area was 4.27 per cent, he said. This included transients and other non-insurable classes, as well as deliberate premium-dodgers and those who simply could not afford to pay their premiums.)

The labor movement, which has frequently blasted the government for forcing employees to contribute to hospital insurance through payroll deductions while allowing others to escape payment, seemed to approve of the change.

Queen Visits Cruiser

ABOARD LINER GOTHIC (UP) — Queen Elizabeth sailed toward the Fiji Islands today after changing ships at sea in rough Pacific waters while sharks circled nearby.

The Queen transferred from the royal liner to the British cruiser Sheffield Monday to meet the sailors escorting her across the Pacific on her round-the-world tour.

She made the transfer by admiral's barge in a four-foot Pacific swell. Crewmen of the Gothic sighted the fins of two small sharks circling beneath a companionway lowered from the side of the liner as the Queen stood on it waiting to step into the barge.

On her fourth attempt the Queen crossed the three-foot gap. The Duke of Edinburgh held one of the Queen's hands and Vice-Adm. E. M. Abelsmith grasped the other.

Red Atom Plant Reported

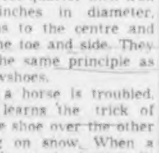
Slave Laborers Return to Japan



Shinobu Higashi, a member of the Associated Press staff in Tokyo, was a prisoner of the Russians in Siberia for almost four years after the war. He lived in Vancouver before the war and attended the University of British Columbia. He was a correspondent in Manchuria when it was overrun by the Russians. Since he has considerable knowledge of Soviet Asia, he was sent to cover the return of all Japanese prisoners from Siberia.

BY SHINOBU HIGASHI

MAIZURA, Japan (AP)—Russia has built an atomic arsenal and a terrifying military establishment in Siberia with slave labor, repatriated Japanese war prisoners said today.

For eight years most of the 811 former Japanese soldiers and civilians who returned Tuesday were forced to work in slave labor camps to build up Russia's military might, they reported.

A Japanese civilian expert on Russian affairs described the Soviet economic and military buildup in Siberia as terrifying.

Convicted as war criminals by the Russians, the Japanese were the first to come back from Siberia since April, 1950.

Their return from Siberia to this port was arranged by a Japanese Red Cross delegation in Moscow. They arrived on the passenger ship Koan.

A woman repatriate said she learned of the atom bomb plant from a Russian worker who had helped to build it.

She said the plant sprawled in the Angara River area, west of Lake Baikal in south-central Siberia.

The woman, who asked not to be named, said she was told uranium ore from the Arctic Circle was brought up the Yenesei River to the plant on the Angara, which is a tributary of the Yenesei. The Yenesei empties into the Arctic Ocean.

Others said they had heard that Japanese war prisoners never accounted for by the Russians were in slave camps inside the Arctic Circle of central Siberia and farther south along the sea of Okhotsk, working in uranium mines. The sea lies north of Japan.

The highest ranking officer, Lt.-Gen. Yoichi Hitomi, said the Russians had built many jet fighter and bomber bases in Siberia.

Col. Uichi Hosagawa, former public information officer of the Kwangtung army and virtual dictator of Manchuria's wartime press, termed the developement in eastern Siberia frightening in its vastness and relentless progress.
